President Speaks at Boston, Lynn and Nahant Mass., to Large Crowds—Leaves This Morning for Tour Through Maine.

Boston, August 25.—Nahant and Lynn today again divided honors in welcoming the president. He spent a quiet morning and afternoon at the Lodge house, and at 2:30 o'clock started for the platform in Nahant, where he was to deliver his address. Simultaneously with the moving of the procession, a battery near by fired a salute of twenty-one guns.

In the carriage with the president was the committee of selection; Senator Lodge and Secretary Moody were in the next carriage, followed by Secretary Cortelyou and Dr. Long and the other members of the party. As the president appeared on the platform he was loudly cheered. About fifteen minutes were consumed in his address.

The drive from Nahant to Lynn occupied about twenty minutes. At the city line the president was met by Mayor Shepherd and a committee and escorted to the city hall by two companies of militia and one of the naval brigade.

Mayor Shepherd introduced the president. It was perhaps the largest crowd which he has addressed since his visit to Pittsburgh.

After thanking the men of the national guard who had acted as his escort, the president stated there was but little he cared to say, because he had come to Massachusetts to learn no less than to teach. He said that Lynn had been rendered a great city by the fact that the individual citizens in it know how to work, and did alike that duty in private and public life. He then referred to the ability of Mr. Moody, as secretary of the navy. Mr. Moody was on the platform.

"In the navy," he remarked, "we have got to have ships and good guns, but if you have not got anything else, the ships and the guns are worthless. You have got to have a man behind the gun," and at this he turned to Mr. Moody.

From the city hall the procession was taken to the depot, where there was a wait for the special train. The president held an informal reception on the platform. He asked to be introduced to Harry E. Stiles, chief musician of the Eighth regiment band, and thanked him for rendering "Garry Owen," which was played at the president's request on the way from the city hall to the station. As the train pulled out on its way to Boston, cheers were given to the president.

Arrival at Boston.
Boston, Mass., August 25.—The week's work for President Roosevelt in his trip through New England began in earnest this afternoon, when he departed from the summer home of the junior senator of Massachusetts, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, at Nahant, and amid the enthusiasm of the greatest number of people he has faced since the Pittsburgh visit on July 4, rode into the under-cavalry escort and spoke from a platform at city hall. Then he was taken to Boston by special train and on arrival went to Symphony hall, there addressing a great gathering of Boston business men. His speech was devoted almost entirely to consideration of the trust question.

Speech of the President.
He said:
"Governor Crane, Mayor Collins, Men and Women of Boston: I am glad to have the chance of saying a few words to you this evening. There are several matters that I should like to discuss, and I can say in all sincerity that when I come here to New England, when I come to Boston, I like to go over as many subjects as possible so that I can get light on them."

"I have great faith in your judgment. I want to take up this evening the general question of our economic and social relations with specific reference to that

SOUTHERN TO PUT HALF A MILLION IN MADISON AVE. FREIGHT DEPOT

Last Real Estate Deal Was Consummated at an Early Hour Yesterday Morning.

PARROTT AND FOLSOM
PROPERTY IS PURCHASED

Work Will Be Done in a Short
Time on Two Buildings 50 Feet Wide by 100 Feet Long.
Barbour Thompson
Talks.

George W. Parrott and L. B. Folsom, early yesterday morning, received checks for $3,000 and $6,000, respectively, from Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, in payment for two pieces of property located on Peters street and Madison avenue. The Parrott property fronts 24 feet on Madison avenue and is occupied by the Maddox-Rucker warehouse. The Folsom property is 35 by 41 feet, fronting on Peters street.

Negotiations leading up to this purchase had been in progress for the past thirty days, and the Southern had held option on the property for that length of time. These negotiations had been conducted by E. P. Black, through whom the property was sold.

The significance of this deal—the last of many, which make the total realty holdings of the Southern in this immediate vicinity aggregate $250,000 in value—will be seen at a glance.

In brief, it means that the last obstacle in the way of the Southern has been removed and that work will be begun at once on a $500,000 freight depot to be used by the Southern, the Central and the Atlanta and West Point.

For Depot Purposes.
This is not conjecture. Now that the last deal has gone through, the officials of the Southern have at last thrown aside the veil of mystery with which they surrounded the prodigious purchase of nearly $500,000 worth of property and have no hesitancy in admitting that it was bought for depot purposes.

On one point alone do they still maintain silence—the location of the union passenger station.

This is but natural. The depot commission has not yet replied to the communication recently sent to Governor Candler in which President Spencer outlined the Southern's position in regard to entering a depot built on the state's property.

The subject matter of Mr. Spencer's letter is well known. He raised certain insurmountable objections to the state's plan, but stated that if these were removed the Southern would be glad to come in. It was at this point that the state threw up its hands, and realizing that any reply which might be made would not amount to the paper it was written on, dropped all further correspondence and practically abandoned the idea of future effort.

The Southern, however, will not in all probability disclose its plans in detail until a formal statement from Governor Candler is received. This reply will not be forthcoming until after the legislature meets.

It can be stated, however, that the passenger station will be located on or near the site now occupied by the Central's freight depot. It will be a magnificent structure, costing in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, several hundred feet long, and will front on the Mitchell street viaduct, giving an easy access to the public.

Barbour Thompson Talks.
J. S. B. Thompson, of the Southern, was seen yesterday morning and asked what the purchase of the Parrott and Folsom property meant.

"Has it been bought?" he inquired.

He was told that the transfer had been made, and that Mr. Parrott and Mr. Folsom had received checks some hours earlier in the day. After assuring himself that this was the case, he said:

"Now that the property has actually passed into the hands of the Southern, I have no hesitancy in discussing the matter frankly. I knew that the Southern had options on it, and that the trade might be closed at any time, but until it was I could not talk."

The Parrott and Folsom property was the keynote to the situation, without which it would have been impossible to run our tracks by the freight depot which we had planned. It was for the purpose of putting up a freight depot that the Southern bought the property fronting on Madison avenue and running from the Mitchell street viaduct to

Peters street. Contrary to the idea prevalent at the time this purchase became known, there was no intention of locating a union passenger station at this point.

"No plans have yet been drawn for the depot. It will consist of two structures—one a delivery shed and the other a receiving shed. They will each be 50 feet fronting by 100 feet long, and will be two stories high, the offices being located on the second story. I can't say when work will be begun. No very elaborate plans will be necessary, and they will be drawn by the engineer of the road."

"What about the passenger station?"

"I'm talking about freight depots now," replied Mr. Thompson. "We can't do but one thing at a time—wait till the freight depot is built."

"Will it be located north of the freight depot?" he was asked.

Mr. Thompson smiled the smile which is peculiarly his own, and which means or conceals a variety of things, as he said:

"I told you we were not discussing passenger depots. The two subjects are very different."

What the Southern Owns.
The Southern now owns nearly 2,000 feet fronting on Madison avenue and extending from the Mitchell street viaduct to and across the point where the Peters street viaduct will be built.

This property was not bought in a month or several months, the period of speculation for parts of it extending back as far as three years. The first intimation of the Southern's intention came three or four months ago when it was learned that the warehouse owned by Treatwell & Koser had been sold to Captain James W. English for $35,000. Captain English was evasive at the time and stated that he had bought it as an "investment." Later the lease on the new building occupied by Wilder & Buchanan was bought by Captain English for $3,000. Still later the building itself and the ground on which it stood changed hands. Other property, owned by the Teller estate and T. A. Shelton changed hands a few days later, and it was only a matter of a few days when the Southern, or parties acting for the road, had control of all the property on Madison avenue from Mitchell to Peters street, including the compress, which it had bought some years before. This recently acquired realty cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

To each question relative to the reason for this purchase and the probability of its being used for a depot the local officials remained silent.

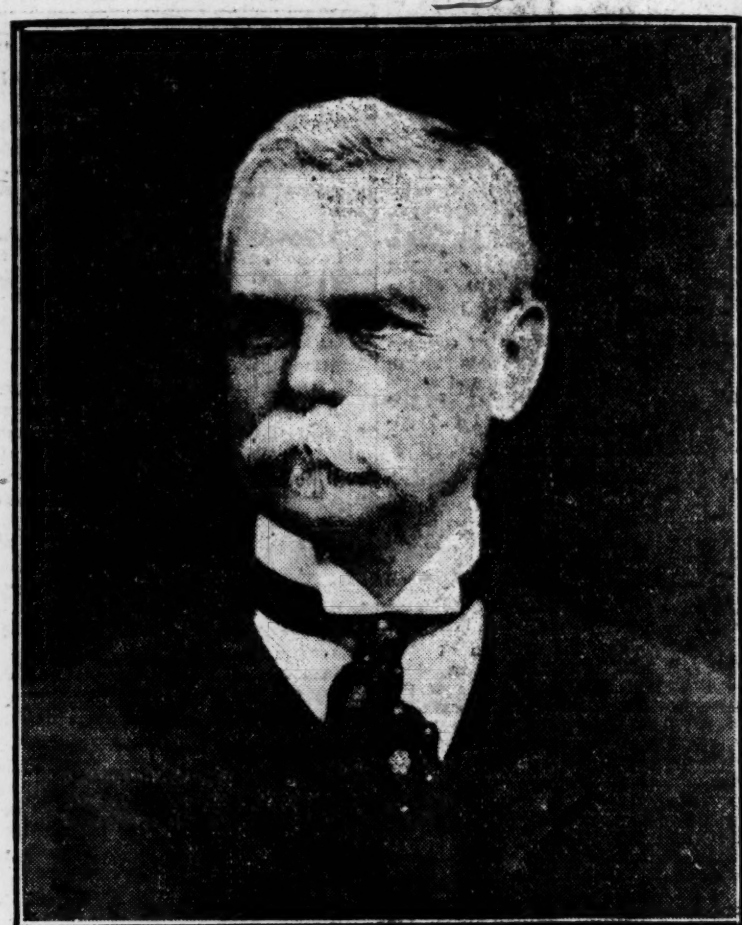

Mr. Spencer's Letter.
It was about this time that President Spencer wrote to Governor Candler setting forth the basis on which the Southern would consent to come in a union depot built on the state's property. This letter was withheld from the public for some time and was first published in The Constitution. At the time of publication Mr. Spencer gave out an interview in which he stated that the moment the state admitted its inability to comply with the requirements laid down by the Southern he would be ready to begin work. Governor Candler has never made any formal reply. He has simply acknowledged the receipt of the letter, and will wait until the legislature meets before laying the matter before Mr. Spencer in detail. In reply to a question last night he said:

"I have not replied to Mr. Spencer and do not intend to do so. The Southern is in open defiance of the state and the city council has seconded them in the matter. They intend to build and the state can't help itself."

New Union Station.
At the time Mr. Spencer gave out this interview it was supposed that the site of the passenger depot would be between Mitchell and Peters streets, where it is now planned to build the freight depot. A remark he made at that time, however, is significant in the light of recent events. When asked the direct question, where the union station would be built, he said:

"That's a matter to be determined later. The Southern has several sites which would be available."

This remark has been taken to refer to the land acquired by the Southern from the Central some years ago, which extends from the Mitchell street viaduct nearly to the foot of Alabama street. It is scarcely probable that anything will be done in the union passenger station matter until after the legislature meets, when the state will make its reply.

PANIC IN A TROLLEY CAR; WOMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 25.—One person is dead and seven injured, one of whom may die as a result of an unusual accident today. The dead: MRS. NEWTON E. MORRIS, of 308 Iowa avenue.

The injured: Mrs. F. M. Watson, of Pleasant Hill, Miss., shoulder wrenched, injured internally.

Colored woman, name unknown, carried away unconscious.

W. J. Fox, negro, knee dislocated, burned by electric current.

Age Wilson, negro, hands cut.

Mrs. Fisher, bruised; not seriously.

Doda Adair, colored, ankle fractured, mouth cut.

As car No. 88, southbound, for Jackson bound park, neared the crossing of Georgia and Kentucky avenues, the trolley wire broke in front of it. The wire flew around the car like a whip. The noise made by the burning wire caused a panic, and the passengers made a mad rush for the rear door. Conductor Jones was on the platform and was swept off by the frantic rush of men and women. The passengers piled in a heap on the ground, those first off being in a squirming mass, while those following continued to leap on the pile.

When finally the mass was separated Mrs. Morris was found unconscious. She died before an ambulance could reach the scene. Mrs. Watson was conveyed to the city hospital, where it is thought she will recover, though she may have sustained internal injuries of a fatal nature.

Barrels of Whisky in Their Crusade.

Ground.

Tifton, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—The killing of Hillman Paulk, together with several shootings and minor rows, all growing out of the illegal sale of whisky in this vicinity, have caused much indignation. For a long time our people have tried to break up this nefarious business, but an arrest and conviction only brought a small fine and the sale of liquor kept on.

This morning a posse of citizens, over fifty strong, visited every man in town suspected of selling whisky, where there was strong proof of his guilt, and told him that he must close up his business and leave the community within three days.

Just outside the city limits are two negro suburbs, and in these the sale of whisky has been bold and open and convictions most difficult to secure. To these the committee next turned its attention.

The first place visited was that of R. T. Ellison, colored, but he was found away from home. Near there 100 gallons of whisky and beer were found and destroyed. Warrants were also sworn out for the proprietor.

The next place visited was Ben Hayship's, and he loudly protested his innocence. The committee found where he had emptied about fifty gallons of whisky and several cases of beer on the ground which had not dried. About three wagon loads of empty bottles were found.

Hayship and his clerks were placed under arrest. Several other places were visited, but no searches made, as the proprietors had warning of the committee coming. All of them were warned to leave the county within three days.

It is thought that white men are backing these negroes in this business, and if this can be proven these men will be severely dealt with. Our citizens want to give ample warning that this traffic will not be permitted here.

Charged with Killing Brother.
Tifton, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—Mack Paulk, brother of Hillman Paulk, the prominent farmer who was found murdered in the road near here yesterday, was arrested today on the charge of being the slayer. He has been committed to jail. Officers are looking for John Walker, a young white man, who is suspected of being an accessory to the murder.

A witness appeared before the coroner's jury and testified that he passed Hillman and Mack Paulk about a mile from Tifton. They were riding in Mack's buggy and leading Hillman's horse. That was the last seen of Hillman alive.

The closer examination of Hillman Paulk's body shows signs of a struggle, there being an imprint of teeth as if he had been bitten on the back of the neck and his mouth bruised as if from a blow.

CHINESE SIGN ARRANGEMENT
Provides for Substitution of Specific Ad Valorem Duties on Imports.

Washington, August 25.—Word has been received here that the Chinese commissioners at Shanghai have signed the arrangement drawn up by T. S. Sharratt, providing for the substitution of specific ad valorem duties on imports entering China. Mr. Sharratt is now on his way to this country with the treaty. The document will not require action on the part of the United States. The Chinese government is anxious that the new duties be payable in gold, but this point has been suspended for the moment by the direction of the powers which signed these treaty arrangements that duties shall be payable in the same currency medium as the indemnity to be paid by China and that question is still an open one.

Montgomery, Ala., August 25, 1902.—The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.—The Advertiser has received sufficient returns up to midnight to indicate a landslide for Governor Jelks in all portions of the state, with not half a dozen counties conceded to Johnston. The most conservative estimate will put the majority in the state for Jelks near 25,000. The contest for governor has overshadowed everything else, and minor state officers are still in doubt. GOVERNOR JELKS SWEEPS STATE

He Is Nominated Governor of Alabama by About 25,000 Majority.

CARRIES SIXTY OUT OF SIXTY-SIX COUNTIES

Jefferson, Home County of Ex-Gov. Johnston—Hefflin Is Probably Nominated Secretary of State—Carey Probable Winner.

Candidates in these contests have secured a majority of votes.

Craig Smith has been renominated for treasurer, as has Thomas L. Sowell for auditor and Robert R. Poole for commissioner of agriculture. None of these gentlemen were opposed.

The returns tonight are by no means comprehensive. By the old rule it was possible to report the result of an election on the night of the day it was held, for the beat meetings in the county precincts were held about noon and were reported to the county site, but the polls in the primary election of the day were kept open until almost midnight, and it has been impossible to obtain the result in the remote precincts.

The following reports which have been received at The Constitution office serve to indicate the result as to the gubernatorial nominee beyond question:

Results by Counties.

Autauga county, Prattville—About 1,000 votes; Jelks has majority of about 150; Cory for superintendent and Hefflin for secretary of state. Others in doubt.

Baldwin county, Bayminette—About 900 votes cast, of which Jelks has received, according to returns, about 550. Hefflin leads for secretary of state, Wilson for attorney general and Cory for superintendent of education.

Barbour county—Jelks' majority in Barbour is 550. Hefflin and Garber will carry the county.

Bibb county, Centerville—Best estimate is that Jelks' majority is 250. About 1,500 votes cast. Other results doubtful.

Blount county, Oneonta—Blount county is close with chances in favor of Johnston. His majority will, however, probably not exceed 150.

Bullock county, Union Springs—Bullock is close, Jelks' majority being estimated at 250. Tom Frazier, Jelks' nephew, has been elected to the senate and Powell and Franklin to the house. Balance of ticket uncertain.

Butler county, Greenville—Butler has surprised the public by going for Jelks by a small majority. He will win by about 225. Hefflin, Wilson and Cory lead in their respective races.

Calhoun county, Anniston—Fourteen of twenty-six beats give Jelks 975, Johnston 277. Hefflin, Garber and Hill lead in their contests. The total vote of the county will reach 2,000, and Jelks' majority will be about 550.

Cherokee county, Centerville—Hefflin 200, Wilson 500, Harris 200, Jelks 200, majority.

Colbert county, Tusculuma—Colbert has gone for Jelks by three to five hundred, and has given Julian a large majority for secretary of state. The tide turned here a few days ago, or Jelks' majority would have been doubled.

Conceh county, Beas heard from indicate a majority of 475 for Jelks.

Coosa county, Rockford—Coosa has a majority of between 500 and 600 for Jelks. The Johnston men have given up; Hefflin and Cory seem to be safe.

Covington county—Covington is very close and it will likely take the official count to tell. The Jelks men are most confident, however, and it looks like he will win by a narrow margin.

Chambers county, Lafayette—Chambers county is safely for Jelks and Cunningham. The majority will be about 600. Hefflin has carried this, his home county, almost solidly.

Chilton county, Clanton—Chilton has gone for Jelks by probably 200. It was thought to be for Johnston, but the population did not vote. Hefflin, Cobb and Hill are the other favorites.

Clarke county, Grove Hill—Has gone for Jelks by several hundred and has voted solidly for Massie Wilson, its countyman, for attorney general.

Clay county, Ashland—The county is safe for Jelks by about 400. The vote has been rather light. Cannot give safe estimate as to others.

Cleburne county, Edwardsville—County safe for Jelks by 300 majority.

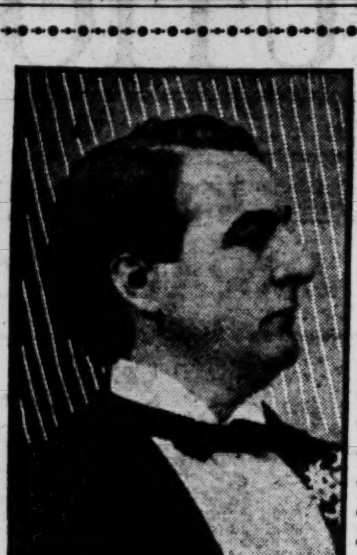

Coffee county, Elba—Light vote. Jelks' majority conservatively estimated at 200.

Crenshaw, Crenshaw—Is for Jelks by about 200.

Cullman, Cullman—Jelks has carried the county by fully 400, perhaps 50 more.

Dale, Ozark—Jelks carries Dale by 400 majority. Hefflin, secretary of state. Close between Cory and Bulger. Practically unanimous vote for Massey and Wilson.

Dallas, Selma—Dallas gives only 700 mafor Jelks. The Johnston men have worked furiously for ten days or it would have been 1,000.

Etowah—A light vote was polled here. Jelks' majority is less than 200, but more than 175.

Fayette—Jelks' majority will be about 300. All that much is in sight.

Franklin, Russellville—Less than one-third of the democratic vote was polled. Returns indicate Jelks, Cunningham, Julian, Wilson and Hill will get about 350 of the 550 votes polled.

Geneva, Geneva—County vote about 900, Jelks' majority about 400. Julian, Troy and Cory lead for secretary of state, attorney general and superintendent of education.

Green, Dutaw—Green cast about 500 votes, giving Jelks a majority of at least 100.

Hale, Greensboro—Jelks' majority will be about 100. Tunstall and Elliott will go to the legislature. Waller gets a good majority for lieutenant governor.

Jackson—On the returns so far received the Johnston men concede the county to Jelks by 400 majority. Julian leads for secretary of state.

Jacksonville, Jacksonville—Jelks has big lead in the four beats reported and will easily carry the county, although his majority cannot be safely estimated tonight.

Lawrence, Moulton—Lawrence goes for Jelks by 800 majority.

Lee, Opelika—Jelks will carry this county by a majority of at least 500. Impossible to tell other accounts.

Limestone, Athens—Limestone is safe for Jelks and Cunningham by at least 500 majority. Cory and Wilson will win and the fight is close between Hefflin and Julian.

At Elkmont a serious fight occurred between Tom P. McWilliams, Johnston's manager, and Hassie Morris, a wealthy planter, in which Morris was seriously cut and McWilliams fearfully beaten.

Lowndes, Lethatchie—Twelve out of fifteen beats give Jelks 218 majority. The others cannot change the result.

Madison—Twelve precincts, exclusive of Huntsville, give Jelks' majority as probably 600 in county. Huntsville estimates 150.

Other counties reported make Jelks' majority fully 25,000.

LATEST RETURNS GIVEN BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montgomery, Ala., August 25.—In the democratic primary held today for the nomination of candidates for state officers William D. Jelks, of Barbour, the present governor, won over former Governor Joseph F. Johnston, of Jefferson, for governor by a majority which will probably reach 25,000.

This election was the first held since the adoption of the new constitution, by which the negro is eliminated as a political factor in Alabama, and the new organic law was made an issue in the campaign. It was endorsed in its entirety by Governor Jelks and ex-Governor Johnston also guaranteed to uphold it, although he opposed its ratification.

R. M. Cunningham, of Jefferson, defeated C. E. Waller, of Hale, by almost 20,000 majority for lieutenant governor.

The nomination of state officers by a general primary was an innovation in Alabama.

The election passed off quietly throughout the state. R. Poole, of Marengo, commissioner of agriculture; Thomas L. Sowell, of Walker, for auditor, and J. Craig Smith, of Dallas, for treasurer, had no opposition, they being accorded a second term by precedent.

For attorney general Alex Troy, of Montgomery; A. M. Garber, of Talladega; Massey Wilson, of Clarke, and former Congressman J. E. Cobb, of Macon, were the contestants. It is not believed that any of the four was nominated and a second primary will be held, the men receiving the highest vote to be the entrants.

For secretary of state J. T. Hefflin, of Chambers; F. N. Julian, of Colbert, and James L. Tanner, of Jefferson, were the candidates, and a second contest will probably be held between the first two.

John G. Harris, of Montgomery; Thomas L. Bulger, of Tallapoosa; Chappell Cobb, of Montgomery, and J. W. Hill, of Etowah, were the candidates for superintendent of education. No nomination was made.

The following congressmen were renominated without opposition:

First district, G. W. Taylor; second district, A. A. Wiley; third district, H. D. Clayton; fourth district, Sidney J. Bowie; sixth district, J. H. Bankhead; seventh district, John L. Burnett; eighth district, William Richardson; ninth district, Oscar W. Underwood.

In the fifth district former Congressman Willis Brewer is opposing Charles W. Thompson, the present incumbent. The returns indicate the renomination of Thompson.

GOVERNOR JELKS WINS BY SAFE MAJORITY

Montgomery, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—The state primary election passed off quietly everywhere. The rules for the admission of voters laid down by the state committee seem to have been rigidly enforced except in a few white counties, with the result that the vote was light almost everywhere. Voters liable to challenge stayed at home and it was a primary with only those who voted or supported the ticket in the last two elections participating.

The real issue in the campaign was whether the old populist or the old element would come in. They did not, and the result is that Governor Jelks has been renominated by a good majority. Returns not yet received will be from the country boxes, but the country predicts

Every Beat in the County for Jelks.

Decatur, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—News is coming in from all sections of the county, and thus far not one beat has been heard from which did not give Jelks a good majority. This beat gives Jelks 218, Johnston 85. Tusculuma county will give Jelks a majority of 400. Hefflin 300, Garber 200 and Cory 200. Josie Manly Foster and Charles B. Verner will be elected representatives by a large majority.

Five Hundred Jelks' Majority.

Anniston, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—Fourteen beats out of a total of twenty-six give Jelks 975, Johnston 277. For lieutenant governor, Cunningham 521, Waller 287. For secretary of state, Hefflin 553, Julian 208, Tanner 175. For attorney general, Cobb 108, Garber 673, 257 75. Wilson 71. For superintendent of education, Cory 231, Bulger 121, Hill 428, Harris 151. State executive committee, Mallory 708, Merrell 683, Whitson 653, Mullins 619, Crook 427, Scott 217, Walthall 183, Smith 184. For representative, Kelly 670, Arnold 778, Williams 555, Hanna 215, Brock 168. For county superintendent of education, Persons 1,238, no opposition. The total vote of the county will probably reach 2,000. O. Z. Harrison, chairman of the executive committee, says the PAPA—Oh, what a pain! I believe I have a fever in the heart.

MAMA—Nonsense, it isn't your heart, it's your stomach. Every time you eat, this hot weather, you get a sour stomach full of hot gases and acids, and you swell up until your heart hardly has room to beat. If you were not so obstinate, you'd take a dose of Cascarets and keep your insides cool by taking a CASCARET Candy Cathartic every night before going to bed. They work while you sleep and keep you regular in the hottest weather.

STRIKERS STAB A POLICEMAN

Officer's Son Was a Non-Union Workman at a Colliery.

STRIKERS' PICKETS WERE BEATING THE YOUNG MAN

His Father Went to the Rescue and the Enraged Men Set Upon the Old Man and Inflicted Serious Wounds with Knives.

Hazleton, Pa., August 25.—August Sheuch, aged 56 years, a special policeman in the service of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, was assaulted and stabbed on the outskirts of the city today while attempting to rescue his son, William Sheuch, a non-union workman employed at the company's No. 40 colliery, from a mob of about 3,000 strikers, who had gathered from all parts of the Hazleton region on the roads leading to the mine to frustrate the plans of the company for a partial resumption of operations with a non-union force of 250 hands.

A majority of the non-union men were taken to the workings in a special train, with which the strikers did not attempt to interfere. William Sheuch, who lives in this city, walked from his home toward the colliery and thus fell into the hands of the pickets. Most of the clothing was torn from his back in the struggle which followed. When Sheuch's father rushed to his aid the mob set upon the elder Sheuch, who was finally rescued by a mine foreman and removed to the miners' hospital. Sheuch was stabbed in the breast and on each hip, kicked in the abdomen and struck on the head with a stone. His injuries are not very serious.

The knife which was sunk into his breast struck a rib and that fact probably saved his life. The effort to prevent work at the mines was successful.

The report of a resumption at the Cranberry colliery of A. Pardee & Co. caused about 500 men to gather near the mine today, but no attempt was made to start work.

Fired on His Pursuers.

Pottsville, Pa., August 25.—George W. Healy, an outside foreman at the Brookside colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, is under $10,000 bail, charged with shooting George Seaver, aged 19 years, of Tower City. Wheatley says he was followed through the streets by a crowd of strikers and their sympathizers, who jeered and hooted him. Becoming enraged he drew a revolver and fired into the crowd.

Were Related to Non-Unionists.

Shenandoah, Pa., August 25.—The school board of Mahanoy township today removed six of the oldest teachers in the township. The reason given was that members of the families of these teachers were non-union mine workers. Among those affected is one named Bedell, father of Joseph Bedell, who was killed during the riot of July 30.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution that applicants in any way connected with non-unionists should not receive appointments.

Morgan Was Not In.

New York, August 25.—Shortly before noon today a committee of three school men from the mine regions called at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., but Mr. Morgan had not arrived at his office at that time, and the committee left without seeing any member of the firm.

Neither of the young men would speak of himself or the purpose of his visit, but it is understood that they are a part of the committee of the People's Alliance of Hazleton, Pa., which is said to have a plan for the settlement of the strike.

There was no appreciable change in the coal situation here today. Hard coal continues to be sold by the retail dealers to their customers at the rate of $10 a ton, which is the highest general price so far. Exceptional cases show, however, that coal has been sold wholesale as high as $11.50 a ton, and that the retail price had reached $12.50.

heard from report a large stay-at-home element that is unfavorable to Johnston's chances for pulling up. The indications are that the whole vote will be about $5,000 out of a possible 150,000.

As far as heard from, this county gives Jelks 45 majority, with Hefflin in the lead for secretary of state.

Opelika, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—Impossible to obtain figures on election tonight. Lee county gives Jelks over 600 majority.

Huntsville, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—Twelve precincts in Madison county, exclusive of Huntsville, give Jelks a majority of 307. The Huntsville box will give Jelks 150 and his majority in the county will probably reach 450.

Jelks by Good Majority.

Decatur, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—Morgan county gave Governor Jelks a good majority today. Calhoun is elected, as is also Walden for the legislature. There is a close contest between Albee and Lynn for the chances in Lynn's favor. Lawrence county will go for Jelks six to one.

Commerce of Island of Cuba.

Washington, August 25.—The insular division of the war department has just published its last summary of the commerce of the island of Cuba. The summary shows that the total value of imports into Cuba during the military occupation was $28,457,185 and the exports were $45,000,000 less than the imports, a fact attributed to the destruction of property and damage to agriculture caused by the war.

The United States furnished 45 per cent of the imports, and took 75 per cent of the exports.

Principally all the sugar went to the United States. The balance of trade was decidedly in favor of Cuba, though not so great as in former years, and it is remarked that the trade of the United States has not kept pace in any way with the Latin American countries with its wonderful strides in other parts of the world.

YIELD OF GOLD AND SILVER

Director of the Mint Issues His Final Estimate for 1901.

FALLING OFF IN BOTH METALS

The Production of Gold in Georgia Led the Best of the Southern States During Year.

Washington, August 25.—George E. Roberts, directors of the mint, has issued his final estimate of the production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1901. Mr. Roberts' statement shows that during the year the United States produced 3,806,000 ounces of gold, valued at $78,000,000, a decrease of $28,700, or 0.63 per cent as compared with the yield of 1900.

The silver yield for 1901 amounted to $3,125,400, which was 2,435,000 ounces, or 5 per cent less than it was in 1900.

The total value of the precious metals produced by the United States in 1901 amounted to $111,735,400, which was $1,940,100 or 2 per cent less than the yield for 1900.

In 1901 the gold production of Georgia was valued at $124,500; silver $240. North Carolina produced $55,500 gold and $12,150 silver; South Carolina $45,600 gold and $130 silver; Virginia $3,300 gold and $420 silver.

Boer Prisoners of War Still Held in Ceylon.

Washington, August 25.—According to the report of United States Consul Morey, at Colombo, Ceylon, where a large number of Boer prisoners of war have been held captives, the repatriation of the prisoners is not to be undertaken until the colonial governments to receive them, as the circumstances of the new colonies are not yet settled. The return of the prisoners is not to be undertaken until the colonial governments to receive them, as the circumstances of the new colonies are not yet settled.

POLICE COURT SHAKEN 'TWIXT LOVE AND DUTY

DAN CUPID played havoc with two hearts at police matinee yesterday. The life of him could not remember a word of the ceremony.

He was saved from further embarrassment, for Attorney Mayson said that there was not a statute authorizing an acting recorder to perform a marriage ceremony.

The acting recorder looked pleased, but Mr. Brown and Mrs. Skipper were still unmoved, and they were planning for each other as does the hart for the water brook.

Chief Ball detailed Call Officers Dorsey and Wells to go out in the highways, byways and the hedges in search of a minister.

The officers returned after a fruitless search reporting that all the preachers were at the ball game.

Acting Recorder Glass was beginning to get nervous again. Chief Ball finally made the happy suggestion that the two loving hearts be sent to Judge Landrum, stating that the judge was said to be an old experienced hand at knot tying, and that he had the reputation for tying those that were never afterwards broken.

The suggestion was no sooner given than taken.

Call Officers Dorsey and Wells and The Constitution reporter were detailed as an honorary escort to the happy bridal party.

A short walk to Judge Landrum's room, a shorter ceremony by the judge and hearty congratulations by the judge, the officers and the reporter brought a happy end to a courtship behind the bars.

SCRUGGS MET AWFUL DEATH

Stone Mountain Man Crushed
Under Wheels of Engine.

R. L. Scruggs, Under Influence of Intoxicants, Falls Under Moving Train—Head Was Severely Injured.

A white man who was identified by Officer Lindsey as R. L. Scruggs, of Stone Mountain, was run over by the engine, the mail and baggage cars of train No. 38
of the Southern on the tracks a short distance west of Piedmont street about 10 o'clock last night.

It is supposed by the railroad men that he was under the influence of liquor and that he boarded these cars thinking that he was on the Georgia train which leaves
the city at 11:35; that he went down into the yard a short distance and then, discovering his mistake, got off and started back to the depot and was run down by the cars as they were being backed into the shed.

The head was severed from the body,
as was the left arm at the shoulder and the left leg below the knee. The left thigh and other parts of the body were badly mangled. The head was found about 10 feet from the body when the accident was first discovered.

It was learned that he comes from one of the wealthiest and most respectable families of DeKalb county. His father died but a short time ago and left to the four children about $75,000.

He leaves his mother and two brothers and one sister, Richard and Edward and Edward Scruggs and Mrs. Fletcher Chestnut, all of Stone Mountain.

Coroner Stamps was notified and after arriving on the scene decided to wait till 8 o'clock this morning to hold an inquest.
The body was taken to Myers' undertaking establishment on Hunter street.

Charged with Larceny.

New York, August 25.—Allen F. Hedges was arrested in Brooklyn tonight on the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that on April 16 last Hedges, who was then in the employ of Ames, Swan & Co., a firm of brokers, abstracted 100 shares of stock of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad valued at $18,000.
Since then he has been missing.

She Jumped from Bridge.

St. Louis, August 25.—A woman appar-

This is the first instance of a woman

Secretary of Agriculture at Cienfuegos.

Havana, August 25.—Emilio Terry, who presented his resignation as secretary of agriculture a week ago today, has declined not to reconsider his action and will sail for Paris next Monday.

Fernando de Castro, a rich planter, is strongly recommended for the position vacated by Terry. Although Senator de Castro was opposed to President Palma
in the presidential campaign, he has many friends among government officials and has been most popular with the people since Havana was blockaded by the American fleet during the war with Spain, when, as civil governor of the city, he spent thousands of dollars to alleviate the sufferings of its inhabitants. Senor Campos and Carrero are also mentioned for the post of secretary of agriculture.

A banquet was given to Terry at Cienfuegos last night. In the course of an address Senor Terry said the only way to save the country was for all factions
to unite in maintaining a conservative policy. He eulogized President Palma and the senate, but said the house of representatives was wasting its time over frivolous matters. Senor Terry predicted a great future for Cuba.

General Botha, adds the correspondent,

Philippine Editors Sentenced.

Manila, August 25.—Frederick Dorr, pro-

Freedom, have been sentenced to six months in Jail and fined $10,000 each for libeling Benito Legarda, a native member of the civil commission, by publishing a certain article in Freedom.
Both Dorr and O'Brien have also been convicted of sedition, but have not yet been sentenced on this count. The cases have been appealed to the supreme court of the islands.

Newport, R. I., August 25.—The unique entertainment of the season was given this evening at Beaulieu, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., where, in a specially constructed theater, Ledger's "Wild Rose," from the Knickerbocker theater, was produced. The company was brought over from New York by Mrs. Vanderbilt. Before reaching the theater proper Mrs. Vanderbilt's guests passed through a midway along which were arranged fortune tellers, games of chance, ring the cane and other attractions by professional fakirs. Dancing followed the performance at the theater, the cotillion being led by Henry Bull

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS ON CONTROL OF THE TRUSTS

problem with which I think our people are greatly concerned themselves—the problem of our complex social condition as intensified by the existence of the great corporations which we rather loosely designate as trusts. But I wish to say one or two things as preliminary. In the first place I have not come here to say that I have discovered a patent cure-all for the trusts.

"When people's minds are greatly agitated on any subject, and especially when they they feel deeply but rather vaguely that conditions are not right, it is far pleasanter in addressing them to be indifferent as to the precise nature of the problem, but to say, 'It is not right, but it is much less pleasant afterward."

"Of course, the worth of a promise consists surely in the way in which the promise is squared with it. That has got to be the case. In the first place, if a man honest he will try just as hard to keep a promise made on the stump as one made off the stump. In the second place, if the people keep their heads they won't wish promises to be made which are impossible of performance.

"Now you see that one side of that question is my duty and the other side is your duty. Mankind goes ahead but slowly and it goes ahead mostly through each of us trying to do, or at least through each of the majority of us trying to do, the best that is in them and doing it in the most intelligent and sanest way. We founded our republic on the theory that the average man, as a rule, will do the right thing; that in the long run the majority are going to decide for what is sane and wholesome. If our fathers were mistaken in that theory, if ever the mass
of the people do what is unwholesome, what is wrong, what is stupid, what is unintelligent, I care not how good its laws, care not in what marvelous mechanism its construction may be embodied. Back of the law, back of the administration, back of our system of government, lies the average manhood of our people. In the long run we are going to go up or go down, according as the average standard of our citizenship does or does not wax in growth and grace.

What Constitutes Citizenship.
"Now when we come to the question of good citizenship the first requisite is that the man shall do the homely, every-day, virtuous thing. A man is not a good citizen, I do not care how lofty his thoughts are about citizenship in the abstract, if in the concrete his actions do not bear them out, and it does not make much difference how high his aspirations for mankind at large are. If he does not behave well in his own family those aspirations are not going to bear very visible fruit. He has got to be a good bread winner; he has got to take care of his wife and children; he has got to be a neighbor whom his neighbors can trust;
he has got to act squarely in his business relations. In fact, he has got to do all those every-day, ordinary things or he is not a good citizen.

"But he must do more than that. In this country of ours the average citizen has got to devote a good deal of thought and time to the affairs of the state as a whole or those affairs are going to go backwards. That time must be devoted steadily and intelligently. If there is any one quality which is not admirable,
whether in a nation or in an individual,
it is history. The man or woman who makes up for ten days' indifference to duty by eleven days' morbid repentance about that indifference is of very scant use in the world.

"Now in the same way it is of no possible use to decline to go through the ordinary duties of citizenship for a long space of time and then suddenly get up and feel angry about something or someday not clearly defined in one's mind and demand reform as if it were a concrete substance and could be handed out forthwith. Now this is a preliminary to what I want to say to you about the whole question of corporations as affecting the public. There are very many difficult problems with which we are faced as the result of the results of our progress, taken all together, we speak of as progress."

"It is worse than useless for any of us his home in New Rochelle today. He said he was landed there early this morning by a fishing smack by which he had been picked up at sea. Only members of the family and a physician were allowed to see him. The doctor said Hollenberg was in no condition to see strangers at present. Hollenberg's story is that he was carried out to sea by the undertow while in swimming. His cries for help attracted the attention of a fishing boat on the beach and he had been carried out a long distance when he managed to get hold of a piece of wreckage that drifted toward him and by means of this supported himself until rescued by the fishing smack. He was dressed in an old suit of clothes, which he said, had been given to him by the captain of the vessel. The name of the smack is not known, nor is any detail of Hollenberg's strange experience obtainable at present.

A man named Gray was drowned at Coney island on the day Hollenberg's disappearance. Hollenberg was not going before it was found the police entertaining a theory that Gray and Hollenberg had gone away together and had left suits of clothes in a bathing house to give the impression that they had been drowned.

THEY WILL FIGHT

General MacArthur Makes Known His Plans.

Army and Navy Maneuvers Will Take Place from Midnight Fri- day Until Midnight Sat- urday Next—The Rules Given.

New York, August 25.—Major General
MacArthur made public today the text of the rules agreed upon for the coming army and navy maneuvers. The whole scheme of operations is based upon the assumption that, in anticipation of a declaration of hostilities, a strong hostile fleet, without torpedo boats, determines to make a sudden dash on the eastern entrance of Long island sound to secure a naval base, in the expectation of finding the land, in the absence of a declaration of war, in a somewhat prepared condition.

The periods of the maneuvers are to be divided into two distinct phases—period
of preparation and period of hostilities.
During the first period it is intended that there shall be a day attack and a night attack by the fleet and, if possible, a bombardment and the forcing of a passage.
During the ensuing period mines and obstructions may be planted by the defense and the conditions of war are to be followed as closely as possible.

On the part of the army the information to be gained relates to the general efficiency, down to the smallest detail, of all armaments of the land defenses and the training of the forces manning them. The navy will concern itself with the best means of obtaining ranges, the effect of mines and obstructions, formations of attack, efficiency of signals, the use of search lights and the general control of artillery fire.

Impress of both services are to be detailed to all ships and forts and will report to a board of arbitration of five officers, whose judgment will be final. In addition a number of observers will act with each of the forces as the representatives of the other.

The period of preparation will be from midnight August 30 to midnight August 31—the period of hostilities extending from the latter hour to midnight September 1. The defense will consist of the forts Rodman, Adams, Wetherill, Noble, Mansfield,
Wright, Michie territory and the fort on Gardner's point. There will be no floating defenses. The attack will consist of about fifteen ships, of which five will rank as battle ships and the rest as cruisers and gunboats.

The umpires and observers will assemble
at the war college at Newport on August 27 to discuss the rules and on August 28
will be distributed to their various stations. The naval militia will embark at Newport on August 30 to be distributed to the ships.

At the close of the maneuvers the attacking fleet will pass in review before the forts.

Elaborate rules are laid down to estimate the value of the fire of guns of all calibers so as to determine when any ship or fort shall be considered to have been put out of action or silenced. All mines are to be fully called and furnished with dummy charges and fuses, the explosion of which will be supposed to entail the destruction of any vessel passing over a mine. No communication will be held with the shore by the fleet except under a flag of truce and no boats will be allowed alongside the ships.

corporations under certain peculiar conditions. For instance, some time ago the governor of New York, Mr. Roosevelt, in certain terms, there has been considerable discussion as to whether the trust acted by any state, and whether it was under the law by becoming a single corporation.

National Government Necessary.
"I want laws to enable us to deal with it, no matter what shape it takes.
I want to see the government able to get at it definitely so that the action of the governor cannot be evaded by the corporation turning within or without federal or state statutes. At present we have really no actual control over a big corporation in which it is incorporated except one state. Frequently the corporation has nothing to do whatever with the state
in which it is incorporated, and its actions
may be taken in entirely different communities. I ask you to remember that the state that will give us satisfactory control of the trusts or big corporations, and the result is at present that we have a great, powerful, artificial creation, which is no creator to which it is responsible.

"Of course it is a mere truism that the corporation is the creature of the state; that the state is sovereign. Now
I want to make a real and not a nominal statement, to have some one sovereign to which the corporation shall be really, and not nominally, responsible.

"If we have laws nobody can tell whether they will amount to anything. Now that has two bad effects.
First, it makes the corporation become indifferent to the lawmaking body, and in the next place, gentlemen, the lawmaking body is put in a position where it is custom of passing a law, not with reference to what will be done under it, but with reference to its effects on the opinions of the voters. That is a bad thing. When any body of lawmakers passes a law not solely with reference to whether that law will do good or ill, but with the knowledge that that not much will come of it, and yet that, perhaps,
people, as a whole, will likely think it good, it does not do much good for the lawmakers, and it does not speak very well for the people either. What I hope to see is power given to the national legislature which shall make the control real. It would be an excellent thing if we could have all the states act on somewhat similar lines, so that it would be unnecessary for the national government to act; but all of you know perfectly well the states will not act on somewhat similar lines.

"Nothing has been done in the direction of intelligent dealing by the states
as a collective body with these great corporations. Here in Massachusetts you have what I regard as, on the whole, excellent corporation laws. I think that most of our states have laws which are remember I am not promising the millennium; I am only putting out a promise it would be in a fair way of solution if we had the power to put on the national statute books, and give out on them, laws for the nation much like those you have here on the subject of corporations in Massachusetts.

"So you see, gentlemen, I am not advocating anything very revolutionary. I am advocating action to prevent anything revolutionary. Now, if we can get adequate control by the nation of these corporations then we can pass legislation which will give us the power of regulation and supervision over them. If the nation had that power, mind you, you should advocate as strenuously as I know how that power should be exercised with extreme caution of self-restraint. No good will come from plunging in without having looked carefully ahead.

Publicity Is Wanted.
"The first thing we want is publicity,
and I do not mean publicity as a favor from some corporations. I mean it as a right from all corporations affected by

CATARRH OF THE BOWELS

Often Causes Hemorrhage of the Bowels.

(An Interesting Letter from Mrs. Tinker, of Georgia, Concerning Her Grandson)

Mrs. L. S. TINKER.

Macon, Ga., writes:

"Two years ago my grandson suffered with hemorrhage of the bowels and he was treated by different doctors but without cure.
We quit all other treatment and began to use Peruna, and after the use of three bottles he seemed to be quite well. He is able now to walk six miles to school every day.
Peruna has certainly worked wonders for him and I shall not hesitate to recommend it."—Mrs. L. S.
Tinker.

Hemorrhage of the bowels is frequently
the result of catarrh of the bowels.
The catarrh produces slight ulcers, and these ulcers eat their way through and cut off the small veins or arteries. It is useless to try to stop this hemorrhage without trying to cure the catarrh. This explains why it is that Peruna makes so many cures of hemorrhage of the bowels.

permanently. Peruna cures the catarrh and thus removes the ulcers. The ulcers being removed, the blood vessels are no longer cut off. The hemorrhage discontinues. This is a much surer, better and more lasting way to cure hemorrhage of the bowels than to use some styptic to attempt to dry up the blood.

If you do not desire prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

the law. I want publicity as to the essential facts, in which the public has an interest. I want the knowledge given to the accredited representatives of the people of facts on which those representatives can, if they see fit, base their actions later. The publicity itself would be many evils. Some of these things
I have said can be done now. A good deal is being done now. As far as the anti-trust laws go they will be enforced.
No suit will be undertaken for the sake of seeming to undertake it. Every suit that is undertaken will be begun because the great lawyer and upright man whom we are so fortunate as to have as attorney general, Mr. Knox, believes that it is a violation of the law which we can get at, and when the suit is undertaken it won't be compromised excepting on the basis that the government will lose. Of course, gentlemen, no laws amount to anything unless they are administered faithfully and honestly.

"Then I believe—I am not going to say I am sure of it—but I believe it is possible to frame national legislation which shall give us more power than we have now; at any rate, over corporations doing business interstate business. cannot be undertaken. It is because in the past it has more than once happened that we have got laws on the statute books which those who made them intended to mean one thing and when they came up to decision,
it was found that the government had not been successfully put into effect. But I believe that additional legislation can be had. I think we have got to make up our minds to the fact that no matter what our reverence to the past may be, our duty to the present and future is conferred upon the national administration.

When the power has been conferred
it will rest with the national government to exercise it. At present we are going to do the best we can with strawless bricks, but remember they are bound to be strawless. Finally, men and women of New England, men and women of a state that represents so much that has always represented so much that is highest and best in the spirit of true Americanism, I ask you to remember that after all has been done that can be done, by governmental action; after you have exercised your best wisdom and exerted it in the most resolute and lofty spirit;
after you have given all the needed power to the national government and after that power has been exercised in the wisest and most resolute fashion, it will still mean that what has been done is not to make everything smooth for each man, but simply to give a better opportunity for each man to work out his own future on good terms for himself.

"Wise laws can do something and we are not to be excused if we fail to resist upon these wise laws. Honorable administration of the laws can do something more and still less than to be excused, as a people, if we condone or connive at a failure to administer the laws by the public servants of the people.
After those laws have been enacted, after they have been enforced, it will remain true, here in this century, as it has been true in every century throughout the history, that the fundamental factor on each man's success in life must be that man's own character; the total sum of

HON. WALTER STEED IS OUT OF RACE

Will Not Be Candidate for Speaker of the House.

WRITES LETTER TO FRIENDS

Has Not the Time To Make Personal Canvass of Representatives of the Several Counties—Hon. Newt Morris Says He Will Be Elected.

Butler, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Hon. Walter E. Steed announces that he will not be a candidate for speaker of the house of representatives.

He has written a letter to friends stating that he would not be in the race and relieving those who had pledged their support to him of any obligation to do so.

Mr. Steed has been a prominent member of several general assemblies and during the two last sessions was one of the ablest leaders on the floor of the house.

He was renominated to the house from Butler county by an overwhelming majority and will no doubt be one of the most prominent members of the general assembly which is to meet in October.

Mr. Steed's letter to his friends is as follows:

My Dear Sir: I write to advise you that I will not be a candidate for the speakership of the next house of representatives. I have neither the time nor the inclination to make a personal canvass of the representatives-elect in the several counties of the state for the office as seems to be necessary. Besides, other candidates equally capable of discharging the duties of this office had announced their intention of becoming a candidate. In view of these facts I have decided to forego my ambition to be speaker of the next house, and to content myself with a seat in that honorable body, where I trust that I may be able to render a more direct and efficient service to the people of my county and to the state than I could in the more exalted office of speaker. I have by this mail advised the other aspirants for the speakership that I would not be a candidate. Looking forward to a renewal of our friendly acquaintance and to the pleasure of a patriotic service in the next legislature, I am with best wishes, Yours truly, WALTER E. STEED.

NEWT MORRIS IS CONFIDENT.

Says He Will Undoubtedly Be Elected Speaker.

Marietta, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—The friends of Hon. Newt Morris, of this county, now count with absolute certainty upon his election by a large majority as speaker of the house of representatives. The news of the withdrawal of Hon. W. E. Steed, of Butler, reached here today. While Mr. Morris has never doubted that he has had, since the primaries were held, a larger number of votes than any other candidate, he now claims that he has an unquestionable majority of the candidates so far nominated—and at this time practically the whole house has been nominated.

On being seen today by The Constitution's representative, Mr. Morris said: "Yes, I have just heard of the withdrawal of Mr. Steed from the speakership race. It simply makes more certain what was practically a certainty anyway, for most of his friends will support me. I will be nominated for speaker at the first ballot and by an overwhelming majority."

RUSKIN IS SWEEP BY FIRE.

Principal Part of Former Socialist Town Is Destroyed.

Waycross, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—The principal part of Ruskina, a little town 7 miles west of Waycross, was burned last night. The town was formerly the home of the Ruskin commonwealth, a colony of socialists from Tennessee, but now owned by J. O. Steffes and two other former members of the Ruskin commonwealth.

The buildings destroyed last night were the large building used as hotel, the officers' headquarters of the socialist colony, one store and postoffice building and one residence. The hotel was occupied last night by Steffes. Fire was not discovered until the buildings were partly consumed. No facilities for fighting fire in town. Very few goods and furniture saved. No insurance on any of the buildings or contents. The fire department was called out here, believing it was located in the western part of the city.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY WHEEL.

Negro Steps on Spoke of Fly Wheel Which Carries Him to Floor.

Savannah, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—George Low, a negro 50 years old, was caught by a fly wheel at the power house of the Savannah Electric Company this morning and crushed to death. He was cleaning the wheel. Carelessly he stepped on one of the spokes, which gave the wheel momentum. It slowly moved, making but a half revolution. That was enough to crush the life out of Low, however, who was caught between the wheel and the floor. Men stood by and saw the accident, but could do nothing to avoid death. Low was dead when his body was removed from beneath the wheel, which was only accomplished after great difficulty.

DISCHARGES ARE HELD UP.

Three Negro Mail Carriers Dismissed in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Instruction came today from the post-office department at Washington for the discharge of Simeon Webster, Albert Lafayette and L. M. Pleasant, Jr., three colored mail carriers. As soon as they heard of the instruction, the carriers got busy and telegraphed Judge Lyons, registrar of the treasury, at Washington, who had the dismissal held up until an investigation may be held. Lotteries and physical disability are the charges against the men. Pleasant's father has a pull as chairman of the republican executive committee of the congressional district, that he exercised in having the dismissal of the carriers held up.

Rev. L. R. Christie Called.

Valdosta, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Rev. L. R. Christie, of Virginia, has been called to the church in the First Baptist church in this city, to succeed Rev. C. W. Minor, who recently tendered his resignation. He is not known whether he is a couple of weeks here and preached a number of times for the Baptist congregation. It is not known whether he will accept the call. Mr. Minor's pastorate will end in October.

HIS LEG CUT OFF WHILE HE SLEPT

Train Passing Over Negro's Limb Did Not Arouse Him.

WHEN FOUND HE WAS PEACEFULLY SLEEPING

Was Not Seen by Engineer of Brunswick and Birmingham—Received No Other Injury—Southwest Georgia Cattle Will Be Shipped.

Brunswick, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Clemson Wallace, colored, was found asleep near the Brunswick and Birmingham railroad track at an early hour this morning with one of his legs entirely severed from the body.

Just how the accident occurred is not known, as there were no witnesses and the man himself was unable to say, but it is generally thought that he was intoxicated last night and went to sleep on a lumber pile only a few feet from the track, stretching his leg across the track, and that the Brunswick and Birmingham passenger train which arrived at 11 o'clock last night ran over him. None of the train crew saw the negro when the train passed and did not know the accident had occurred until he was found.

When the man was found he was fast asleep with the leg cut off as if with an ax, and the accident evidently did not awake him from his slumber. He was taken to his home and the wound was dressed. He received no other injury about the body.

Southwest Georgia Cattle.

The cattlemen of southwest Georgia are now organizing a company to go extensively into the cattle business and the headquarters of the new company will be in Brunswick, where cattle will be shipped to all quarters of the world.

It is a well-known fact that the cattle business in southwest Georgia is growing at a rapid rate and it is fast becoming one of the leading industries in this section. Southern meat can now be found on the market all over the world and this section is fast taking the place of the west in this industry.

This new company, which will probably apply for a charter during the present week, proposes to go into the cattle business on a large scale and will raise and sell all kinds of cattle in this section, which will be shipped from Brunswick. Two or three prominent Brunswick cattlemen are interested in the new organization.

HIS HEAD CRUSHED WITH HEAVY STICK

D. Lingerfelt Killed by Mike Akers Near Bessemer, N. C.

FOUGHT OVER SMALL MATTER

Both Men Well Known and Have Excellent Reputations—Shot Girl Accidentally—His Is Indorsed for Congress by Republicans.

Charlotte, N. C., August 25.—(Special.)—At the store of Mike Akers, 2 miles from Bessemer, yesterday, D. Lingerfelt was killed by a blow on the head from a stick in the hands of Akers. A dispute arose over the price of a box of sardines. Lingerfelt claimed that he had paid for the sardines, while Akers declared that he had not. Lingerfelt knocked Akers down and was beating him with his fists when in some manner Akers wrenched loose, secured a heavy stick and dealt Lingerfelt a blow over the head that felled him and produced almost instant death.

Akers was arrested and taken to the county jail at Salisbury.

Both men are well known and hitherto have borne excellent reputations in the community.

Girl Seriously Wounded.

While toying with a loaded pistol in the home of his pretty sweetheart last night, William Kemp, an employee of the C. & A. N. railway, accidentally shot and seriously wounded the girl. The bullet entered the young woman's breast and lodged in her back. She is Miss Alice Martin, of Lenoir. It is thought she will recover. She exonerates Kemp from all blame for the shooting.

His Is Indorsed.

In convention today the republican hosts of Mecklenburg county indorsed George E. Hiss for congress in this, the ninth district, threw a large bouquet at Senator Fritchard and denounced in unmeasured terms the state administration. D. Kirby Pope, of campaign contribution collecting fame, presided as chairman, and the cut and dried details were put through in a hurry. In the matter of putting out a ticket in this county, the convention decided to leave that question for the county executive committee to decide. A poll of the delegates disclosed the fact that a majority were in favor of naming a ticket this fall. The delegates to the congressional convention were instructed to vote for George E. Hiss.

DEATH OF INSPECTOR BARRY.

Great Thief Catcher Dies Suddenly in Boston.

Boston, August 25.—Police Inspector Thomas J. Barry, who formerly had charge of the rogues' gallery and who was head of the Bertillon system here, died suddenly today of heart disease. He was 40 years old and was known for more criminals than almost any other thief taker in the United States. He was 40 years old.

SISTERS WILL ASK BOARD FOR PARDON

Petition for Harry Joiner Will Be Presented Wednesday.

SERVING LIFE SENTENCE

He Is a Young White Man Convicted of Murder of a Peddler in Bibb County—Petition Has Many Signatures—Other Macon News in Brief.

Macon, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—On next Wednesday an application for the pardon of Harry Joiner, of Bibb county, will be presented to the prison commission, which meets on that day. Joiner's sisters and others will go before the board with a petition numerously signed by citizens of Macon, asking for the pardon. It is understood that the jury which convicted Joiner are among the signers of the petition.

Joiner is a young white man of Macon, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of a peddler named Yon. The murder was committed for a few dollars that Yon had. No one saw the crime perpetrated. Yon's dead body was found one night in a dark and lonely place by a tree opposite the Bibb mills, near the intersection of First and Oglethorpe streets. His throat had been cut from ear to ear.

Thomas Held for Burglary.

James Thomas, the young white man of Nashville, Tenn., who was arrested Saturday for robbing the house of Alderman Massenburg of $300 worth of valuables, was arraigned in the recorder's court today on the charge of burglary and was committed to the superior court under bond of $500, in default of which he was sent to jail.

Allen Hill, a negro restaurant keeper, was arraigned for receiving some of the goods which Thomas stole, and he was also bound over to the superior court in the sum of $500.

Charles Austin, colored, burglarized a store last night of considerable goods and Detectives Jenkins and Anderson caught him in an alley with the effects. He was committed by the recorder this morning to the superior court.

The arrests of Thomas and Hill, mentioned above, were also made by Police Detectives Amerson and Jenkins, who are doing splendid work in their line.

Rogers and Joiner Case.

Hearing in the Rogers and Joiner bankruptcy case was resumed this morning and an interesting incident occurred. Former Receiver Leon S. Dure was on the witness stand and Attorney Olin Wimberly was examining him on the question of Mr. Dure's knowledge of bankruptcy. Mr. Wimberly asked him if he knew about the books of corporations, and Dure replied that he did.

"You have been connected with several defunct corporations, I believe," said Mr. Wimberly.

Mr. Dure was silent.

News Notes from Macon.

Colonel C. M. Willey will go to Atlanta tomorrow to attend a meeting of the building committee of the Confederate Soldiers' home.

NAVIGATION IS SUSPENDED.

Boats on Chattahoochee Will Not Run to Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—The Columbus Steamboat Association has decided today to temporarily suspend navigation on the upper Chattahoochee until the river resumes its normal condition. It is now lower than it has been in a number of years, due to an unprecedented drought along its watershed. For the present steamers will come up no further than Columbus, Ala., where freight for Columbus will be transferred to the railroads. It is thought that by the time the fall season opens the river will be in its usual condition, just as soon as conditions permit, boats will come up to the Columbus wharf again.

Recall of Dispensary Bill.

Washington, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—A notice looking to the recall of the dispensary bill is now being run in the local papers. It is understood a strong fight will be made before the legislature by the dispensary people. It is also learned that a petition for a prohibition election will soon be circulated. It is hoped to call the election for some time in December, probably the latter part.

Editor and Hotel Man Fight.

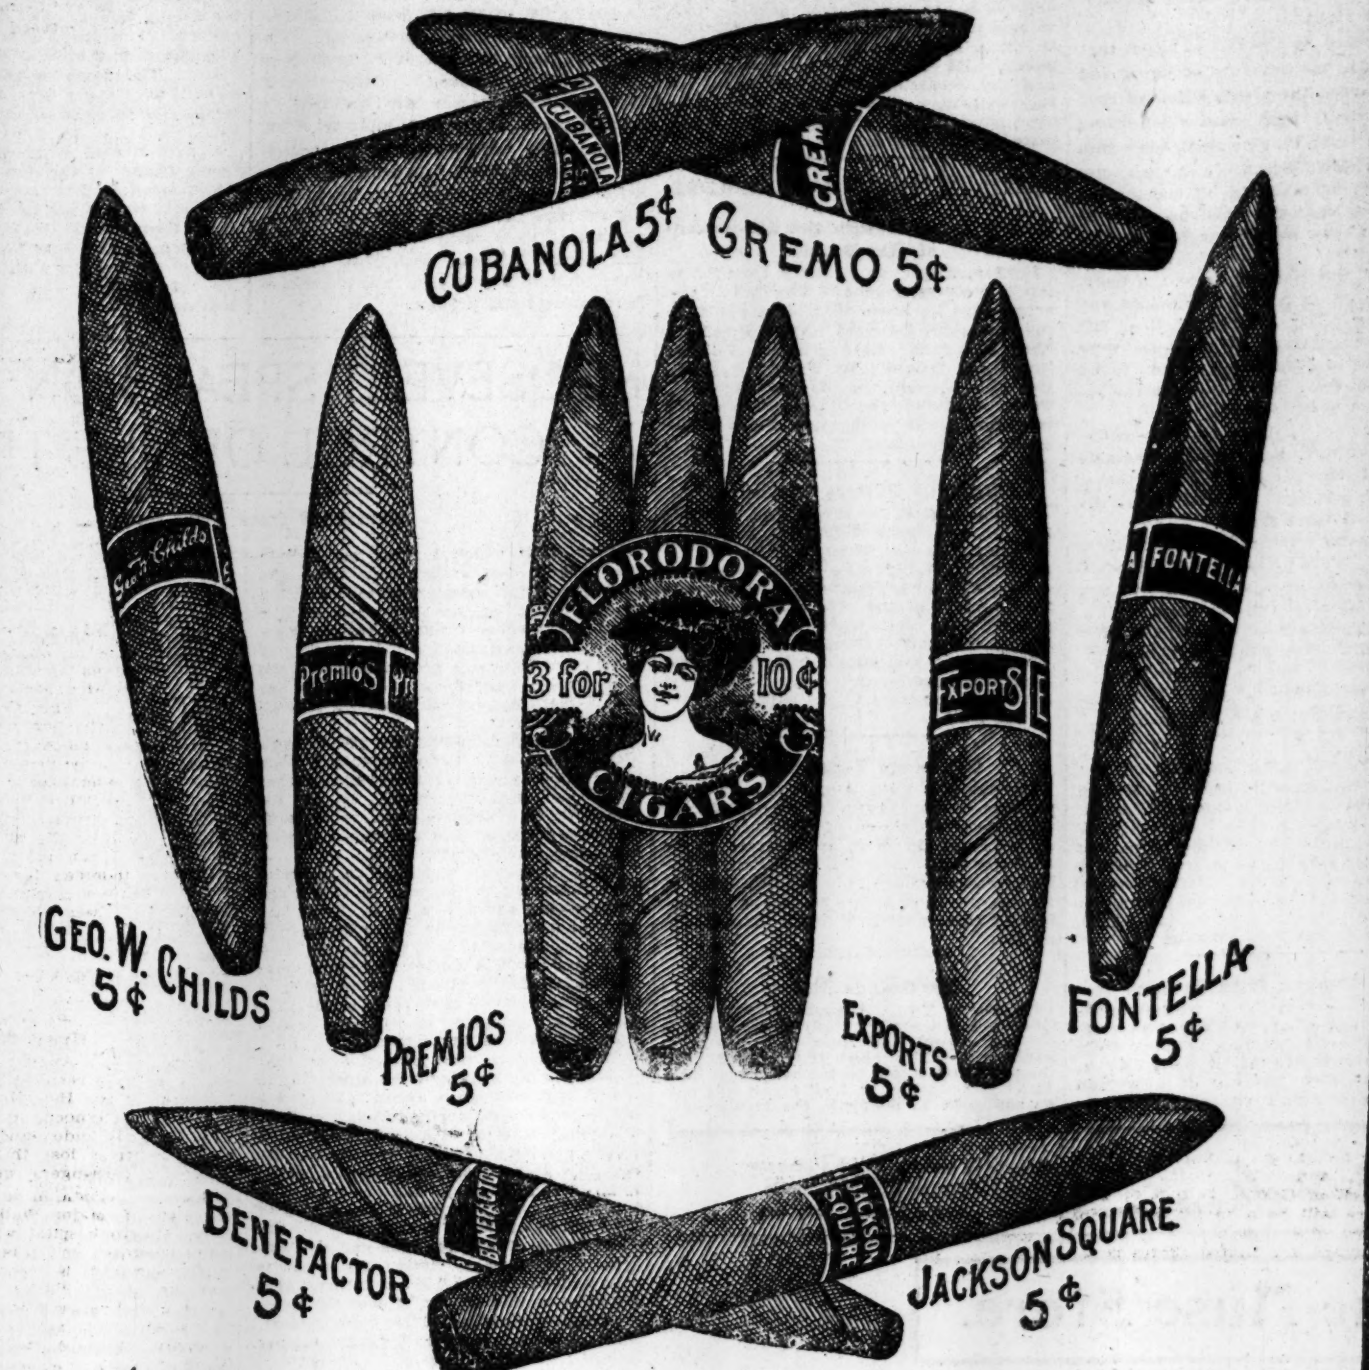

Waycross, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Difficulty between the Junior Editor of the Evening Herald and the proprietor of the Hotel Viridie occurred in front of the Phoenix hotel here today. A rough and tumble fight lasted several minutes without injury to either party. The newspaper man called the hotel man a liar, which caused the fight. Each combatant has slight bruises in the face.

Attempt To Enter Stores.

Washington, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Burglars made several bold attempts to break into several different stores here last night. The windows of the stores of W. H. Philpott and S. L. Brooks were pried from their hinges, but entrance was not effected. The thieves in all probability were scared away.

There have been established along these lines some seventy-five stations, making a most thorough service in this territory.

FIGHT IS OVER IN CHARLESTON

Heavy Odds That Von Koltz Will Be Elected State Senator.

FRAUDULENT VOTERS WILL BE PROSECUTED

Warrants Have Been Made Out in Blank Form To Be Served on Any Person Who Tries To Vote Under Another Name.

Charleston, S. C., August 25.—(Special.)—Candidates in Charleston county made their final preparations today for the primary election, which will be held tomorrow.

While there are indications that a heavy vote will be polled, the authorities have endeavored to check attempts at fraudulent voting, and several hundred fictitious names have been stricken from the rolls. The books, however, show that the registration has been near the record breaking mark, and it was announced again today that warrants had been made out in blank form to be served on any person who tries to vote under another name.

Interest in the various contests have excited bitter feeling, and the candidates, as well as the public, are in hopes that the primary will pass off without serious trouble. The hardest fight is being made here for congressional honors, and both Bacon and Legare are confident of victory. It is practically conceded by many politicians, however, that Legare will win, and big odds have been offered with few Bacon takers.

In the state senatorial fight the indications point to the election of George F. Von Koltz, Jr., the man who was opposed by Senator Tillman. His opponents in this race are John P. Grace and F. H. McMaster, and while these candidates have developed more or less strength, it is not believed that they can defeat Von Koltz. Bets are freely made that Von Koltz will beat both the others on the first primary. One bet was made here the other day of $125 to $3 that Von Koltz would win.

Great Battle of Ballots.
Columbia, S. C., August 25.—A primary election will be held in this state tomorrow. Senator McLaurin's successor is to be nominated, as well as a state ticket. There are six candidates for the senate, Congressmen Elliott and Letting, former Congressman Hemphill and Johnstone, D. S. Henderson, state senator, and ex-Governor John Gary.

The candidates for the last named is a nephew of Senator Tillman. The campaign has been featureless except for the terrible arraignment of Tillman's personal character and public career. The candidates have spoken in each of the forty-one counties in the state. The vote will approximate 100,000.

Captain Heyward is a farmer and has never held political office, yet it is conceded that he will get a plurality on the first ballot, and will probably run it over with either Colonel Talbot or Tillman. There will be a second ballot for nearly every other office.

The campaign for United States senator has also been featureless except for the attacks on Congressman Lattimer by ex-Governor Evans and Colonel Johnstone. It is impossible to forecast this race.

In each county there will be a primary for officials of minor importance. The fight against child labor in cotton mills has been the issue among legislative candidates and the result is doubtful.

OLD WHITE WOMAN ASSAULTED

Pose Is Searching for Criminal Near Pensacola.

Pensacola, Fla., August 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. Della Dixon, a white woman, nearly ninety years old, was yesterday assaulted by an unknown negro at her home near this city. She was taken to the city this morning, where she swore out a warrant for the arrest of her assailant. According to the woman's story, she was attacked by the fiend while alone on her porch. A desperate struggle ensued, in which the woman's shoulder was dislocated, beside receiving other injuries.

A posse is in search of the negro. A corps of deputies were dispatched from here to the scene in order to protect the negro if he is captured.

FIREMAN KILLED; ENGINEER INJURED

Freight Train Is Wrecked at Slighs, South Carolina.

TWO NEGRO TRAMPS ARE HURT

Supposed That Rails Spread—Engine and Six Box Cars Completely Demolished—Woodmen Unvelling Monument to Bigby.

Greenville, S. C., August 25.—(Special.)—The northbound freight on the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens railroad was wrecked this morning near Slighs, a small station about 12 miles from Newberry. Fireman Henry Burts, white, of Honea Path, was killed, and Engineer Oscar Land and two negro tramps seriously injured.

It is supposed that the rail spread at this point, causing the engine and cars to leave the track. The track was torn up for a distance of about 150 yards. The engine and six box cars were completely wrecked.

The injured were conveyed to Little Mountain, where they received medical attention.

Monument Is Unveiled.

Sunday was a great day for Woodcraft in upper South Carolina. Several hundred Woodmen from Piedmont, Pelzer, Fork Shoals, Belton and Anderson assembled at Honea Path, on the Columbia and Greenville road, to assist in unveiling a monument to the memory of Sovereign Luther S. Bigby, Walnut camp, No. 14, Pelzer.

The veil was drawn by Misses Beale Sullivan and Ella Donale, and J. J. McKeown, a prominent Greenville attorney, delivered the address of the occasion.

Residence Burns.

Cumming, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—Fire destroyed the residence and household goods of Sam Allen last night. It is supposed to have caught from the kitchen stove. Loss about $1,000. This was known as the Kellogg place, being the home for many years of George Kellogg, a wealthy pioneer. Later it was occupied by William E. Boyd, now of Windsor, Ga.

In some places the yield is only about half as good as last year and in others not more than a third of a crop.

Franklin, one of Mississippi's foremost politicians, was elected president of the institution, the vacancy being caused by the death of Major J. M. Billups, the former president, who was for thirty years identified with the company.

ILLITERACY IN THE COUNTRY.

Census Office Makes an Interesting Report.

Washington, August 25.—The census office today issued a preliminary report on illiteracy among men of voting age in city and country districts in the census year of 1900. The report includes under the term "illiterate," those who can neither read nor write and also a small number who can read, but cannot write. In the United States, as a whole, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, the male population at 21 years of age and living in cities having at least 25,000 inhabitants was 5,885,644, of whom 339,223, or 5.8 per cent, were reported as illiterate. The rest of the country the number of men of voting age was 15,248,655, of whom 1,949,247, or 13 per cent, were reported as illiterate. These figures indicate that illiteracy among the adult males is less than half as prevalent in the large cities as it is in the rest of the United States. The difference, the reports say, is due largely to the fact that the urban population of the country is mainly in the northern and western states and illiteracy is less frequent than in other parts of the country.

Death of Prominent Lawyer.

Philadelphia, August 25.—John C. Bullitt, a prominent lawyer, who for many years was closely identified with public affairs, died today of apoplexy at his summer home in Paoli, near here. He was 78 years old, and had been ill only a week. Mr. Bullitt was a native of Jefferson county, Kentucky. He was counsel for General Fitz John Porter in the memorable trial that was held at West Point.

WILCOX CASE TO BE ARGUED

It Is the Next Case on the Docket of the Supreme Court.

CONVICTED OF MURDER BY THE SUPERIOR COURT

Counsel Says if He Is Lynched the Newspapers Will Be Responsible—Applicants Examined. Other North Carolina News.

Raleigh, N. C., August 25.—(Special.)—The fall term of the supreme court began today. The docket of the sixteen districts are not heavy and the number of cases of marked importance are few. Easily the chief is that of Jim Wilcox, the Elizabeth City murderer, which will be argued tomorrow. The general belief is that the verdict in the superior court will be sustained, which means death to Wilcox. Wilcox's counsel says that if Wilcox is ever lynched that fate will be due to the feeling the newspapers have aroused against him. This seems to be a sweeping assertion, for the feeling against him is not due to the reading of newspapers.

The applicants for license as attorneys were examined by the supreme court today, there being over forty of them. It will probably be a week before the court passes on their papers. As a rule only two-thirds of the aspirants get license, so strict is the examination. Two years' study is now required. Once the obtaining of license was utterly easy; now it is hard.

North Carolina News.

The demand for the invaluable "Regimental History," issued by the state, to which The Constitution yesterday referred, so strongly, is increasing. These volumes go all over the country. It is said they make by far the best history published by any state in the once confederate states. The roster of this state's troops in that year, the four volumes, but is to be made perfect, errors and omissions having been found.

The annual convention of the North Carolina negro firemen will be held here next week. There are about thirty negro fire companies and they always work faithfully. Their work is highly appreciated. They have good apparatus and equipment. Raleigh has one of the oldest and best of these companies, the "Victor." Its first fireman was James H. Jones, who was a servant of Jefferson Davis and was with the latter when he was captured near Washington, Ga. Jones was taken to Fort Monroe with Mr. Davis. The two were always devoted friends. The Constitution correspondent secured for the state library here a photograph of Mr. Davis and an autograph letter, both sent by him to Jones. The letter is one of the very last Mr. Davis ever wrote. He addressed Jones in it as "Uncle Sam Jones." Jones is devoted to Mrs. Davis and to Mr. Davis' memory. He is now here to attend the firemen's convention. He has a position in the capital at Washington, secured for him by General William H. Cox when the latter was secretary of the senate and ever since retained. Jones is widely known and esteemed. His manners are very fine indeed. He always carries a cane, given him by Mr. Davis. He visited Beaufort a number of times and Mr. Davis had a long talk with him during his last visit to Raleigh.

EARTH CAVED IN UPON THEM.

Two Laborers Killed and Another Severely Injured.

Laurel, Miss., August 25.—A fatal accident occurred this morning at 11 o'clock in a sand pit at Taylorsville, a local station on the Gulf and Ship Island railroad, 15 miles from this city, in which two lives were lost and another may probably die. Henry Moore, Lee Jones and Atlas McDaniel, a boy of 12 years of age, were getting out dirt for a brick yard. When about 15 feet below the surface the earth caved in and buried the men alive. A rescuing party went immediately to work with spades and shovels and when the bodies were reached it was discovered that two were dead and the third so badly injured that death may result. The dead: HENRY MOORE, Newton, Miss. ATLAS McDANIEL, Severely injured: Lee Jones.

Sad Death at Bartow.

Bartow, Fla., August 25.—(Special.)—This entire community was shocked last night by the sad death of Mrs. H. M. Lanier, of Bartow. Mrs. Lanier was the wife of H. M. Lanier, an old resident of this city, whose mind began to fail owing to a general break down in his health about four months ago, and he is now in the state sanitarium at Chattahoochee, where he is receiving treatment.

The funeral of Mrs. Lanier was conducted at the Methodist church, of which she was a faithful and zealous member, this morning at 10 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. P. R. Bridges, and a large concourse of people attended.

She was the mother of five children, three of whom survive her. They are: Oakley T. and Johnnie M. Lanier and Mrs. Lynda Belle Pierce.

Phosphate Mines Shut Down.

Bartow, Fla., August 25.—(Special.)—Many of the phosphate mines in this section have been forced to suspend operations owing to a scarcity of water and others have not been able to make more than half time. At this season of the year, they generally have too much rain, but somehow things are out of joint and the rainy season has not come. Stock men also report great suffering among their stock. The record kept here by Observer Wade shows a rainfall of only about 26 inches this year so far when it should have been nearly double that.

NEGRO TIED TO LOG AND SHOT TO DEATH

He Assaulted Mrs. Will Smith Near Seven Springs, N. C.

OFFICER WALKER WOUNDED

Mob, Disguised as Negroes, Shoots Deputy and Takes Prisoner. He Made Full Confession Before Being Riddled with Bullets.

Raleigh, N. C., August 25.—Tom Jones, the negro who assaulted Mrs. Will Smith near Seven Springs, on Friday, has been lynched.

He was caught by a posse of three, taken to Mrs. Smith's house and identified. He confessed his crime and gave up a razor he had stolen from his victim's husband. He was put in a barn to await the arrival of the sheriff, but ten men, disguised as negroes, came from the woods and demanded him.

Officer Walker refused to give him up and was shot in the neck.

The men battered down the door, put Jones on a tram car, ran it into the woods, bound him to a log and fired a volley of shot into him. He was not killed at the first fire and another volley ended his misery.

Buttons and pieces of cloth were taken as souvenirs from his body. The victim will live, but is horribly disfigured.

TO REMAIN IN MISSISSIPPI.

Hon. A. A. Kincannon Declines Offer of Texas College.

Columbia, Miss., August 25.—(Special.)—Hon. A. A. Kincannon, president of the Industrial college, has received a very flattering offer from the president of the board of regents of the industrial college of Texas, asking upon what terms he will accept the presidency of that school. The offer was declined with thanks, President Kincannon telling them that he had undertaken what he considered a great task in this state and was too loyal a Mississippian to give it up.

Republican Convention.

Huntsville, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)—The republicans of Madison county will hold a convention here next Saturday to decide upon a county ticket. The prominent men of the party are jubilant over the fact that, since the negro has been eliminated, many new faces are seen in republican assemblages. At the present meeting Saturday night a negro was present, and several of the best known business men of the county participated in the work of the meeting. W. L. Wellman was captured for chairman of the state executive committee, and William T. Hutchens was indorse for reelection as chairman of the county committee.

NO OTHER DEATH FROM WRECK.

R. P. Waller, Brother of Wounded Man, Upset Mentally.

Norfolk, Va., August 25.—No further fatalities have resulted from the head-on collision on the Bay Shore Terminal line yesterday afternoon, in which Motorman Yandell and Golden and 19-year-old Lindwood Fentress lost their lives and two score of passengers were seriously injured. The condition of W. L. Waller, a brother of Major Waller, who lies at Christopher's hospital with his face horribly lacerated and crushed and his back badly sprained, is reported as being favorable. R. P. Waller, brother, after helping to remove W. L. Waller from the wreckage became, it is thought, temporarily deranged from the shock and wandered around all night. A search was instituted for him and he was found near the scene of the wreck.

A Good Hearted Man,

or in other words, men with good sound hearts, are not very numerous. The increasing number of sudden deaths from heart disease daily chronicled by the press, is proof of the alarming prevalence of this dangerous complaint, and as none can foretell just when a fatal collapse will occur, the danger of neglecting treatment is certainly a very risky matter. If you are short of breath, have pain in left side, smothering spells, palpitation, unable to lie on side, especially the left, you should begin taking

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

J. A. Kreamer of Arkansas City, Kans., says: "My heart was so bad it was impossible for me to lie down, and I could neither sleep nor rest. My decline was rapid, and I realized I must get help soon. I was advised to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which I did, and candidly believe it saved my life."

A number of those who will attend from Georgia are on the programme to take part prominently in the discussions.

State Entomologist Scott will speak on the subject of the treatment of the San Jose scale, with which he has had much to do since having charge of the Georgia entomological department.

Assistant Commissioner Wright will speak on Georgia's industrial progress, with which he is well qualified to deal. Mr. Magid, who is greatly interested in introducing silk culture into the south, will discuss the subject of silk culture, and will urge active attention to this industry by the departments of agriculture in the south.

J. B. Wright, of Cairo, Ga., will speak on the steps necessary to build up the sugar industry in the south, and R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment station, will discuss the essential characteristics of good varieties of cotton, and how they can be developed.

No More Nightmares.

Now that the terrible war is over and Captain Pillsbury's dreaded white squadron has failed to make a landing upon the New England coast, the old maid men and women from Maine to Massachusetts can adjust their nightgowns and sleep in peace. Not since the days when Boston and all New England trembled under the possibility of Cervera's phantom fleet swooping down upon that coast and carrying off some of the hallowed soil has there been such consternation as has been manifested over the possibility that Captain Pillsbury might make such a landing as would give his attacking fleet a victory in the war game.

To be sure there is every indication that the Washington experts laid down a programme under which Captain Pillsbury did not have one chance in a thousand to win. He was given a fleet of three converted ocean steamers with which he was to make a landing in some first-class harbor between Portland on the north and Cape Cod on the south, the principal requirement being that he must hold his position six hours before the defending force appeared. The distance between these points is put at about one hundred miles. Admiral Higginson was given a fleet of three battle ships, eight cruisers and seven torpedo boats with which to guard the coast against this terrible attack, and naturally he made Rockport his headquarters, since at that point his main force was within five hours' distance of any point within the territory.

Every point in the game was in Higginson's hands, as it was natural it should be. It is to be supposed things would be so arranged as to make it possible for the rest of the world to know that an enemy could make a landing upon the American coast? Of course not. But the scare New England experienced in those "sad but glorious" days before the Spanish fleets had been destroyed proved such a shock upon the nerves of the good people from Cape Cod to Portland that there has been no sleeping since the game began.

But now that the pathetic picture of the surrender of the enemy's fleet has been presented to the admiring gaze of the anxious multitude, rest is once more a possibility.

The Right Kind of a Monument.
A contemporary sees in the failure of the McKinley Memorial Association to raise more than a small fraction of the immense sum it had been intended to secure by popular subscription or the erection of a magnificent monument to the martyred president at Canton, Ohio, an exceedingly instructive commentary on what is popularly regarded as fame.

We do not share this view. The fame of the lamented president is secure and needs no column of granite and bronze as an ostentatious evidence of its existence. That the American people have not responded more liberally to the monument project is not the slightest reflection upon their loyalty to the revered memory or fame of the illustrious dead. We believe, if a closer analysis were made of the reason back of this failure, it will be concluded that the memorial association did not fix upon the right kind of a monument.

For all its personal extravagance, this is a utilitarian age. When we build memorials, we like to see them practical and serving a useful purpose. We have a decided tendency to associate such honors with philanthropy and make them answer a double purpose, that of perpetuating a great name and of ameliorating human ills. We have not yet attained the bloodless aestheticism which allows the halt and blind to crouch in the shadow of art, as in effete but artistically splendid civilizations. So long as our eulogistic institutions are incomplete, we prefer to build more of them and carve over their portals the names of our great departed, in lieu of pretty shafts for memorial show.

Perhaps if the McKinley Memorial Association had set about the erection of a national confederate soldiers' home, for instance, with this phrase from the martyred president's memorable Atlanta speech: "Reunited—one country again, and one country forever!" boldly cut on its corner stone, the money necessary for its building would have been easily forthcoming. Suppose they try changing their plan to something of this nature.

Typhoid Fever Precautions.

The season of the periodical visitation of typhoid fever is at hand, and while Atlanta is never unduly afflicted in this respect, it behooves the sanitary authorities of the municipality to early put in force precautionary measures against the inception and spread of this insidious disease.

In common with most epidemic diseases, typhoid fever is known to be a germ disease, and unless held in check by proper scientific methods, an exceedingly virulent and often fatal disease. The cause of typhoid fever is not so difficult to locate as formerly. Impure water and milk, and bad plumbing, are generally at the bottom of the trouble. Since heat kills the poison, drinking water should be boiled, milk pasteurized, and defective pipe joints and sewage attended to. Scrupulous cleanliness should be observed about house and yard, with the free use of lime and simple disinfectants. Flies are prolific germ-spreaders in this connection, and undoubtedly contaminate food. The dirty hands of a cook often result in the conveyance of the disease to the system through the stomach. Care should be exercised in frequenting the sick chamber of a typhoid patient. This disease is no longer classed as uncontrollable.

Noting a recent discussion of the subject by eminent medical authorities, The Boston Herald says:

Once it was held that earth was a destroyer, or a disinfectant, of malignant typhoid germs, and that it was sufficient protection to bury the excrement of typhoid patients. That idea is exploded. Soil contaminated by typhoid patients is now known to be a direct purveyor of the disease. The germs of the poison may lie in the earth a long while, and yet upon exposure suffice to convey the disease. This was the common belief during the Spanish war, when the persistence of typhoid in certain camps was overcome only by removing the soldiers to uncontaminated fields. The New York Medical Record publishes a paper, read before the Syracuse Academy of Medicine by Dr. M. A. Veeder, in which the evidence of typhoid infection through the soil is reviewed. Burial in the earth, it is maintained, preserves and perpetuates typhoid for years. The infection may be conveyed by the dust blown from the soil, or by eating raw vegetables that have grown in it, or any food that flies visiting the soil. The soil, it is maintained, is the source of this is that the immediate disinfection of all typhoid material is the only means of rendering the poisonous bacilli harmless.

The Price of Tea.

After the 1st of January all tea should cost the American consumer 10 cents a pound less than it costs him now.

On that date the revenue tax upon tea will be removed. This was placed at 10 cents a pound by the war revenue bill of 1898. At the last session of congress this tax was repealed to go into effect the 1st of next January.

The placing of this tax on tea resulted, naturally, in an increase in the selling price to the consumer. The removal of the tax ought, of course, to cheapen it by the amount of the existing tax, but a good many people who have investigated express doubt that this will follow. A writer in The Chicago Chronicle says intimations have been given out that the consumer need not expect much change in price with the removal of the tax, which is interpreted as meaning there will be no reduction at all. The benefit, it is pointed out, is to be divided between the tea grower and the tea importer, unless one or the other takes it all.

The hardship of the tea tax and the increased price falls particularly upon the poor man. The man who is able to buy high priced tea does not feel it as much as the one who has but a small amount to pay for the necessities of life. If when the tax has been removed the consumer finds he gets no benefit from the change, there may be disturbance in the full dinner pail that will not be enjoyed by the men who claim responsibility for filling it.

A Suggestion for South Carolina.

With the closing of their somewhat torrid state political campaign we trust that our South Carolina neighbors will not take umbrage at a mild and disinterested suggestion we would make bold to offer regarding the future conduct of political revivals in the Palmetto state.

We, in common with all true southerners, have noted with deep regret the tendency of candidates offering for the suffrages of South Carolinians to preface or perorate their public discussions of warm issues with very un-Marquises of Queensbury-like punches at the solar plexus of their opponents, or worse, to punctuate their remarks with gunpowder explosions. These excitable tendencies are not conducive to the calm, dispassionate consideration of controversial discourses, and the smoke is annoying to the auditors. Besides, it is not meet that party brethren should lay themselves open to the soft impeachment of unfriendliness.

Now, we think our friends over the border will concur in the assertion that the ante-primary joint debate is fraught with too much unpleasantness to be persisted in just for a blood-warmer, and is not really essential to the education of the suffragist. There should be an unwritten rule of party sentiment in South Carolina, making ineligible candidates who, during their canvass, appear in the same town on the same day, or travel in the same train. This, if the mass meeting is insisted on.

However, this is an instance where Mohammed should go to the mountain. South Carolina is a great agricultural state, and if the candidates make their electioneering before the crops are laid by, let them start in early in the spring and visit the farmers at their homes. The might follow to the letter the method in Kansas. In his electioneering rounds he takes with him in his buggy a competent and husky ploughman. When he halts a farmer in the field, the hired ploughman takes the plow and the work goes right ahead, while the farmer stands in the shade of the hedge and listens eagerly to the candidate's spiel. It works like a charm. Most farmers will be willing to listen all day. The novel method is guaranteed to reduce political friction to a minimum, and the more candidates the merrier.

Triggs on Slang.

Professor Oscar Lovell Triggs, the Chicago university genius who thinks Mary MacLane has Shakespeare, Bacon, Tolstol and even Ella Wheeler Wilcox "whipped to a custard," when it comes to literary ability, has come out squarely in defense of the slang of the day.

"So far as natural growth is concerned," says Professor Triggs, "the English language tongue has come almost to a halt. The only place where we can look for new contributions is in the slang of the day. Words are constantly being coined in the talk of the streets which will eventually become recognized by the academicians and given a place in the dictionary. Slang is highly metaphorical and even poetic. I grant that the imagery is often of a homely sort, but it is nevertheless as involved in its suggestion as the most polished phrase of the masters of diction. Let us not, then, despise this 'slanguage' which is giving virility and picturesqueness to our speech. Among school teachers there is a tradition that the use of slang should be discouraged in the young. When they do this they are nipping in the bud incipient literature."

There is some sense in this—more sense than in some of the other utterances of spectacular members of the faculty which manages to advertise Mr. Rockefeller's university so shrewdly. Some slang is good. Many of the words and phrases in common use today were at one time tabooed as not quite proper for polite society or for the use of those given over to the niceties of speech; but occasionally a word or phrase which is pure slang at its coining describes an idea so aptly that nothing else can quite take its place and it is incorporated into the language where it does its full part in expressing thought.

It is not essential to the education of an American youth that he should devote himself to the acquirement of Bowery jargon, but at the same time it does not hurt him to occasionally indulge in the colloquialisms which pass as slang. Professor Triggs is right.

A practical point of Redbone district, Lee county, gives his experience as follows:

"I heard so much about the literary business that I thought I would try my hand at it; but I am bold to say that I made more plowing, in one year, than I have been in writing poetry in ten. I have been so discouraged that I have decided to stick to the plow, and let another genius be lost to the world."

The Humble Way.
John Vance Cheney is one of the most persistent of the magazine poets, and yet he writes, occasionally, a true-hearted lyric far different from the general run of stereotyped magazine verse, as the fol—lowing:

"Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall ride it but a day;
Better the lowly wheel were done,
And kept the humble way."

Santa Fe Cuts Rates.
Topeka, Kans., August 25.—The Santa Fe today announced a round trip rate of $10 to Chicago from Kansas City, Topeka and other points in this territory. The cut is made by authority of the Western Union, the senior book agent of the Methodist church, relative to donating a set of books on the religion of the Methodists to the Carnegie library. It is thought that about twenty-five books will be donated. Resolutions were read on the death of Colonel W. A. Hemphill and Rev. W. T.
Hamilton, both of whom died very recently. The discussion was postponed on account of the absence of the latter, Rev.
C. M. Melvin, and was made the order of the day for next Monday. "The subject was,"
"What is the Practical and Moral Bear-

PASSING THROUG.

"Unless all prevailing signs point wrong
there's sure going to be sickness, murder and sad death following in the wake of tomorrow's proceedings over my way." The speaker was a South Carolinian, and the way he said "Chaaaaa!"
marked him as a citizen of the City by the Sea, beyond the possibility of a doubt. The place was the wide foyer of the Aragon hotel, and the time was last evening. "You see, tomorrow," he continued, "the grand round-up of the Palmetto State for the first primary, and if you have been reading the reports of the threats, promises and doings of the several candidates in the two political parties that have been chasing all over the state, nursing their own personal ambitions and trying to hypnotize a majority of the public, you will know that I am not making any foolish remarks. You see, this first primary is going to narrow the race down to a few candidates, and then it will be all off but the shouting. Up to this time some of the candidates have wanted to do things but couldn't without having the usual chances. Take it in the senatorial party. Ex-Governor John Gary Evans and Congressman A. C. Lattimer have been appearing for weeks all over the state, and one time they landed before friends of both parties could separate.
Personally, I don't think either of them are going to be in the second heat, and they know it. You can see the wait until the next time they meet for something to happen. If I was running a newspaper
I would put about twelve men following as many of the candidates, doing the usual shoe'atting, and I'll bet money
I would get a first page story from every one of them. You just wait and see."

"Then there has been bad blood between Lattimer and Congressman Hemphill, and according to report they got together for a good round. Even ex-Congressman George Johnstone is said to have been ready to put on the gloves a couple of times. In the governmental outfit there is Uncle Ben's nephew, who often goes by the name of "Fighting Jim," and you can generally count on a solo from the Tillman family
when the music begins."

"Oh, I tell you over there in South Carolina we are warm members. We not only have been fighting senators in Tillman and McLaughlin, but we are still breeding them, as a state, and the counts of this present campaign will prove."

"Yes, after tomorrow it will be practically all over so far as that of the candidates are concerned, except the fighting, but I figure that before it's over the gentle waves will kiss the crumbling walls of Sumter will run red with the political blood that's spilled, and the peaceful chimneys of St. Michael's will again ring out the clarion note of battle—not to the rattle of musketry but the ballot box which is now ways such a harmless mode of warfare as it might be. That state of mine has always had a place all its own in the matter of being first in the game when a fight was started. It will be believed, then, there's going to be interesting reading matter from that section between tomorrow and the time of the final primary."

The four lines following, written by a life prisoner on the state in his cell at the United States federal prison, tell a true and continued story, revealing the dramatic in at least three chapters. It is headed:

"Murder in the Second Degree."
"One court, swift second;
A bullet, straight,
x x x x
One long, loud lifetime, Awaiting death."

If you're too busy to take a day off

little glass receptacles purchases a smile
from some unfortunate child, while it

it will be duly recorded when the judgment

teachings not only of the God of the Hebrews and the Christ of the Christians,
but of Gautama Buddha, Confucius, Mohammad, "Allah's Prophet," and the divinites of the schools of the stoics and the pagans throughout all history. Every time you can contribute good to giving a good time to the poor people of Atlanta, young and old, at Grant park tomorrow, and more money is needed. Not meaning to be sacrilegious, quite the other thing—this is not the religious editor writing, but a reporter whose work poverty is the ever-present spectre and pleasure almost an unknown guest—if a chocolate cake be entered toward to a especially happy entry in the Great Ledger? If you happened to prefer writing a check that would wipe away a

Tracy, the Sham Hero.
Boston Post. In estimating the qualities displayed in this fight of the escaped convict, what do we find in any way merely, admirable, or in the least degree commendable in an honorable man? Physical courage is there to be sure, and so is dogged persistence against difficulties, and so is resource in emergencies. But the moral and intellectual qualities which renders these qualities available for any use except such as wild beast make of them is lacking. Indeed, the one controlling quality, which alone rendered these others useful to their possessor in evading pursuit, is selfish brutality. Any strong man, armed, ready to kill, having no regard for human life or human rights, could lead his pursuers a chase
such as Tracy led the through a wild and scarcely settled country, which he was familiar. Trained in crime, merciless, basely treacherous, and even distinguished in infamy. He has not even the claim which Claude Duval, Dick Turpin, Jack Sheppard, have for a bad eminent in the romance of crime.

The mistake of the sentimentalists who are in such a donor's evidence of mis-directed genius and the perversion of heroic qualities is that they look only at the physical side of the case. There is no use for strength or courage or shrewdness when the directing mind is morally corrupt. Such a man could never make a place for himself in an honest calling, for the reason that it is not in him. Still more does he lack every essential element of heroism.

AN OPEN LETTER TO BILL ARP

Confederate and Other Records Are Discussed in Line with Major Smith's Sunday Article.

By Mrs. Robert S. Park, State Regent D. A. R.

Dear Mr. Arp: Your earnest and interesting letter in last Sunday's Constitution recalls a conversation between two of the state officials of Georgia, both confederate veterans, to which I was privileged to listen a short time ago.
They were lamenting the fact that it would soon be impossible to make a correct confederate roster for Georgia. One said: "I am afraid when the state awakes to the value of this honor-roll and demands legislative action, it will be too late. In some counties there are only a man or two left. In some regiments
there are only a handful of survivors."

"Yes," replied the other, "too late, too late. Did you know at Dallas how old and bowed and feeble many of the old fellows were? That was the last reunion for them. They will not be with us at New Orleans next year. Why, some of those veterans were over 80,
and they traveled hundreds of miles through heat and dust, in crowded day coaches, to meet the boys and talk over the old days. Tired and worn and sick, they would not have minded it if it were the world. And how proud they were of the iron cross! It was their 'red badge of courage.' Many an unfortunate old fellow felt it was his only claim to the respect of his countrymen. For several years' fight with the yankees I thought of in looking at their horny hands and wrinkled faces, but the hand-
to-hand fight they had made with poverty and hardship for nearly forty years
since they laid down their muskets."

"Did you observe how clear the memory of these old men seemed to be about the battles and campaigns in which they engaged? They remembered the names of division and regimental officers and company officers and comrades, and in many cases dates, marches and battles with an accuracy that makes me ashamed."

"Yes, that is true. I have seen the records, that are turning up every day, to correct our state roster, which we all know to be imperfect, unavoidably
so."

"Can you tell me how much Georgia has spent in making out the honor roll of her immortals?"

"I believe I can. At the session of 1885
the legislature appropriated $1,000 for the purpose of copying the roster of Georgia troops on file with confederate records in Washington. This amount was placed under the direction of Adjutant General J. M. Kell, who employed N. C. Morrow, of Macon, to do the work. This sum proved inadequate, and an additional appropriation of like amount was made in 1889 and expended in like manner in 1890.
Through this means a roster of Infantry troops was secured, but from lack of means the roster of artillery and cavalry was left uncompleted, with a few scattering exceptions. All efforts to secure funds to complete the work have failed."

Now, dear Mr. Arp, we must have the funds. A few letters like yours from the people and a few stirring articles from

OFFICERS TO GO TO FORT RILEY

Governor Appoints Thomson, Cann, Obeir, Byrd and Huguenin.

WILL REPRESENT GEORGIA AT NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT

State Will Pay Their Expenses, but No For Dism—They Will Witness Maneuvers of Government Troops and State Volunteers.

Governor Candler yesterday appointed the officers who will represent Georgia at the coming encampment of United States troops and volunteers at Fort Riley, Kansas, for military study, and Adjutant General J. W. Robertson issued an order giving notice of the appointments.

Georgia's representatives on this occasion will be Colonel Usher Thomson, of the Third Infantry, Madison; Colonel George T. Cann, inspector general of rifle practice, Savannah; Colonel William G. Obeir, inspector general, Atlanta; Colonel Phil G. Byrd, assistant adjutant general, Atlanta, and Colonel E. D. Huguenin, Second Infantry, Macon.

The order issued by General Robertson states that these officers are to go to Fort Riley to witness the maneuvers of the troops gathered there for encampment from September 27 to October 11. They will not be paid any per diem, but their actual traveling expenses will be paid by the state.

The appointment is one of considerable importance and interest, and was sought after by a large number of officers in the state service. It is a trip which will unquestionably prove of great value to those who go in the military instruction that it will give them, and Governor Candler has selected, as far as possible, those who, will best be in a position to impart the information thus gathered to the men under them, upon their return.

The state was asked to send a company, battalion or regiment to these maneuvers, but the governor said the state could not stand the expense and it was all he could do, under the circumstances, to send five officers. Near by states will have large bodies of volunteer troops present.

Every branch of the regular military service will be represented at this encampment and the maneuvers will extend over two weeks. It was designed especially to impart instruction to the militia of the various states, and it is expected it will prove of great value in this respect, though most of the states, as in the case of Georgia, will send only a delegation of officers.

RECEIVER FOR MERCHANTS

Business of Printup Bros. Goes Into United States Court.

CREDITORS FILE PETITION

Alleged That Transfer Was Made with Intent to Hinder or Defraud.

The business of Printup Bros., merchants at the corner of Georgia avenue and Pryor street, was yesterday placed in the hands of a receiver by the United States court on application of creditors.

C. G. Hanrah was appointed receiver, the appointment being made on petition of McCullough Bros. The order of court was signed by Referee William H. Beck, of Griffin, he acting in the absence of Judge William T. Newman, and Referee E. H. Adams, of this city.

A petition was filed late Saturday afternoon asking the court to adjudge the concern bankrupt. The petitioners were W. S. Duncan & Co., J. J. Dodd, Grocers Company, L. J. & J. E. Maddox, H. L. Singer, McCullough Bros. and Bell Bros. They allege that Printup Bros. are insolvent, and that the concern owes debts to the amount of $100,000.

The petitioners allege that Printup Bros., on August 22, transferred their entire stock and book accounts, valued at $200,000 to A. S. Wadley, with intent to hinder, delay and defraud their creditors. It is stated that Wadley's notes were taken for the purchase money without any security of any kind, and that they made no transfer to pay the petitioners any part of their debts.

It is further alleged that on August 22, while insolvent, Printup Bros. transferred a portion of their property to J. Barnes, a creditor, with the intention of preferring him over the other creditors, and that they paid him $47.75. The petition also recites that on April 1 a mortgage was given to Barnes on the premises and that the mortgage was held off of the records until August 22.

Starting Liquor Statistics.

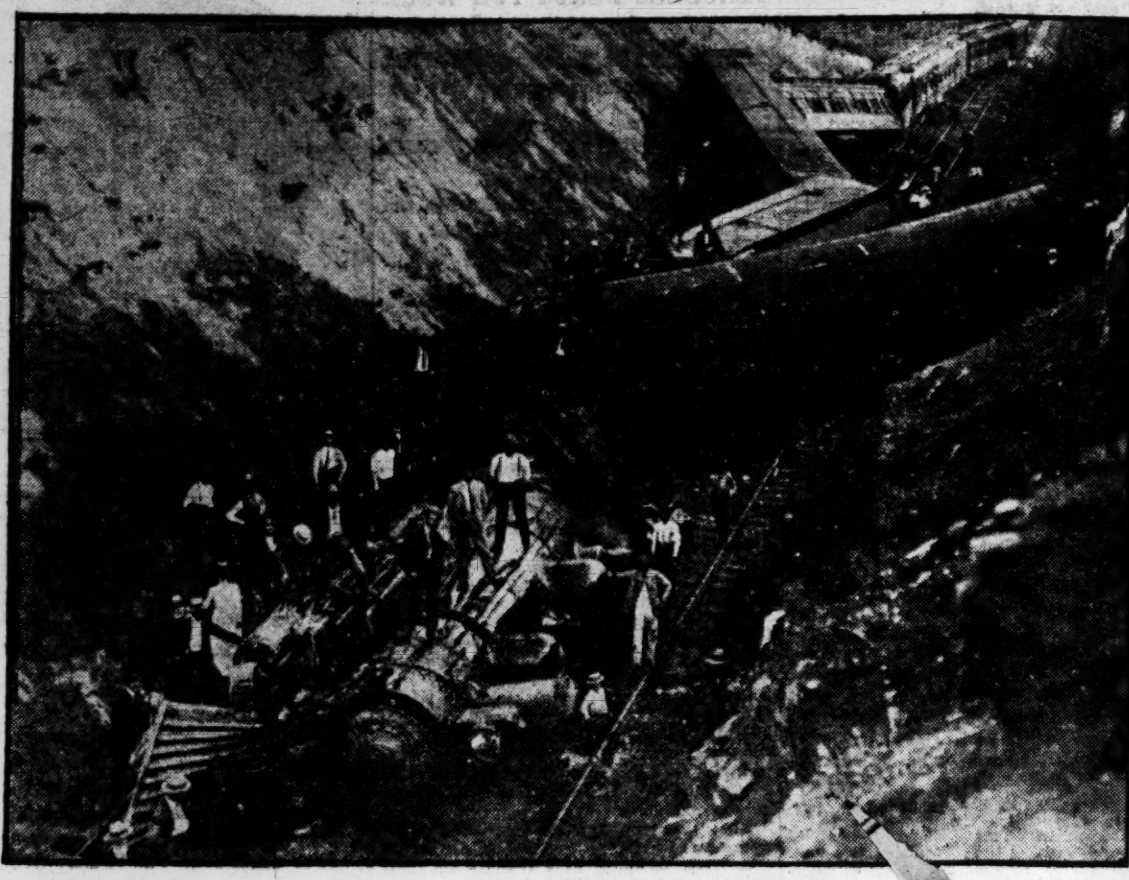

Lyle's Weekly: Some idea may be gained of the power and vastness of the liquor traffic in this country from the statistics on the manufacture of alcoholic liquor in this country during the census year ended May 30, 1900. This report shows a capital of $47,674,087 invested in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors in the 2,840 establishments reported. This sum does not include the capital stock of any of the manufacturing corporations, which would add many millions more. The value of the products returned is reported as $30,035,466, which serves to indicate the enormous margin of profit there is in the business. Dealt out in glasses of the average size, this $30,035,466 worth of alcoholic liquor would fill at least six billion up to the brim, a number of glasses sufficient if placed one upon another to reach all the way from the earth to the moon, or if passed around on a per capita basis to give every human being on the globe something over two glasses apiece—though, in fact, to set the whole world into a drunken sleep. If the friends of temperance can extract any comfort and encouragement out of these statistical calculations they are abundantly welcome to it. We wish, indeed, that it might be so, for the showing does not make for the peace and happiness of the world.

BOARD OF HEALTH TO PROBE RUMORS

Body Will Hold Special Meeting at 3 O'Clock This Afternoon.

MAY VISIT THE CREMATORY

Mayor Mims Requested That Session Be Held for Purpose of Hearing from Persons Who Had Any Evidence To Give About Furnace.

The board of health will meet in special session at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of hearing from persons who may have complaints to make concerning the operation of the crematory.

Mayor Mims yesterday morning sent a letter to Dr. W. C. Jarnagin, president of the board, requesting him to arrange a special meeting. Dr. Jarnagin immediately notified Clerk John Jentzen to send notices of the meeting to all the board members.

Speaking of the matter yesterday the mayor said: "I asked Dr. Jarnagin to call this meeting so that all rumors and charges relative to the way in which the crematory is said to be operated may be looked into by the board. I shall urge that the entire board visit the crematory and make a personal investigation. If there is any truth in the rumors that have been circulated concerning the furnace it should be brought out and proper steps taken. And if there is no foundation for the allegations, then this should be brought out, also, and the whole matter cleared up."

"I am in favor of having the meeting open just like a regular session of the board and I shall oppose hearsay evidence. If any one knows anything about the crematory of his own knowledge, let him come before the board and give his members the benefit of this knowledge. Every member of the health board is as anxious to have the matter given a thorough investigation as I am."

Dr. Bizzell Talks.

Dr. B. W. Bizzell, a member of the health board, when seen last evening and asked about the crematory matter, said: "I was told some time ago that the furnace people connected a pipe with the crematory tank for the purpose of cleaning the tank. I never saw this pipe and, therefore, do not know its size. It seems this tank was filled from the washbasin and its contents were then forced into the furnace with the aid of a pump. This pump, I was informed, did not clean the tank thoroughly, and it was necessary to flush the tank after it had been emptied."

"In order to carry on this cleaning process the pipe was put in. As soon as Chief Hope learned of its existence he expressed the belief that it ought not to be there and it was immediately disconnected. The board agreed with the views of the chief and, as the sanitary department's desire has been complied with, it was not necessary for the board to take any formal action. It was thought at the time that the existence of a pipe, of whatever size, might result in just such a state of affairs as now exist."

"You can rest assured that the board will make a complete investigation and will bring out the truth in the case." It is expected that the meeting this afternoon will prove to be a lively one, and will, doubtless, be largely attended.

Statement by Tapp.

Attorney Sidney C. Tapp, of counsel for the movants against the Lester Furnace Company, stated last night his clients expected to prove that the pipe, alleged to have connected the crematory with a sewer, was 8 inches in diameter and was 125 feet in length.

"If that pipe has been taken up," said Mr. Tapp, "the work was done since our bill was filed in court. An investigation will show whether a pipe existed or not. The pipe which we expect to prove was laid was purchased from Hunnicutt & Beilingsbach."

Balfour Foreseen by Beaconsfield.

New York World: Arthur James Balfour, Britain's new prime minister, is being much written about as belonging to the old patrician class. In fact, the Balfour family is only two generations old as the British reckon family history. He has no great-grandfather. The founder of his greatness was Mr. James Balfour, who made a large fortune in India, brought it back to Scotland and purchased the estate of Whittham in 1817. It is now one of the finest in East Lothian. Grant, the son of Balfour, further paved the way for his grandson's present fame and good prospects by marrying a daughter of the earl of Lauderdale, which put the Balfours right in the middle of the road for anything but obscurity.

Kingdoms. Grandfather Balfour's eldest son, James Balfour, married a daughter of a Scotch nobleman, and, of course, they all went to parliament.

The late Lord Beaconsfield, when he came home from Berlin in 1881, after negotiating the famous treaty which secured "peace with honor," was met by a tory delegation from Lancashire and asked to name a good candidate for parliament for the county of Manchester. Beaconsfield replied: "Take Arthur Balfour; he will be a second Pitt." Beaconsfield's prophecy is now half realized by the election of Balfour to the premiership. Whether he will prove a "second Pitt" remains to be seen. Beaconsfield was a great flatterer when he cared to be.

NO REDUCTION IS LIKELY IN TAX RATE OF GEORGIA

Outlook Is It Will Be Fixed at $5.44, Same as Last Year—New Railroad Map Is Issued.

Capitol News.

THE chances are there will be no decrease in the state tax rate this year. Though every effort will be made to get it down when the figures are gone over today by Governor Candler and Comptroller General Wright, the indications are that it will have to be fixed at $5.44 on $1,000, the same rate as last year and the highest rate allowed under the law.

Some weeks ago when it was thought property returns would make a better showing than they have done, it was thought the rate could be reduced to $3.30 on $1,000. More recently it was stated it would probably be impossible to put it below $5.40, and now it appears there is no chance of any reduction at all.

Every effort was made to complete the figures yesterday so as to fix the rate, but Comptroller General Wright found it impossible to do this and the matter cannot be settled until today. The last county tax digest was received yesterday. It was from Troup county and showed a gain over last year of $152,598.

This makes the total net gain in the returns of a property over last year $10,780,550 against an increase last year over 1900 of nearly $23,000,000. The total net gain in the returns of railroad, telephone, telegraph and express companies over last year is $5,165,107.

This makes the total net gain in the returns of a property over last year $10,780,550 against an increase last year over 1900 of nearly $23,000,000. The total net gain in the returns of railroad, telephone, telegraph and express companies over last year is $5,165,107.

Comptroller General Wright states that there are about $193,000 more in appropriations than last year. For this year he has provided for the increase in tax returns over last year will not only about $58,597, so it will be seen there is still a chance for a deficit, even with the highest rate allowed by law to be charged.

In spite of this situation Governor Candler hopes, after going over the figures, to be able to make some slight reduction over the rate of last year. The state has been materially reduced during his administration and he is anxious to make the best possible showing at this time. If there is any way to make the reduction there is no doubt that he will do it.

The total returns of all property in Georgia this year amount to about $167,000,000. The total returns of railroad property are $31,070,436, of street railways $3,968,137, of telephone property $768,140, of telegraph companies $275,098, and of express companies $337,138. The total amount of corporation property returned to the comptroller general is $54,720,004 against $51,554,817 last year.

RESIGNATION NOT RECEIVED.

GOVERNOR CANDLER has not yet received the resignation of Justice Hal T. Lewis, of the supreme court, and said yesterday he had heard nothing of it. The governor said he knew nothing whatever of Justice Lewis' intention to resign except what he saw of the rumors with regard to it.

Nevertheless, there is still a persistent report based apparently on good authority that Justice Lewis intends to leave the bench and that his resignation is ready to go to the governor. If it has not already been mailed.

The announcement of this fact has already had the effect of bringing out the candidates for the vacancy when ever it occurs. Governor Candler has already received numerous letters and telegrams from candidates and friends of candidates with regard to their claims. The list is pretty much the same as was published at the time it was thought Justice Lewis would resign several months ago. So far the governor has merely filed them for reference.

COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE.

THE members of the prison commission will be at the capitol today, and they have a busy week before them. One of the first matters the commission will give attention to is the complaint lodged against a misdemeanor convict camp in Elbert county by a negro who claimed he had been cruelly treated. The negro's wife in pretty bad shape and he said he had been whipped on them.

The commission will start State Warden Jake Moore to Elbert county probably tomorrow for the purpose of investigating this matter. This is the only complaint that has been made against this camp, which has borne the reputation of being one of the best misdemeanor camps in the state. Colonel T. M. Swift, who owns it, has wired the prison commission that he courts the fullest investigation, and requests that some one be sent there for that purpose without delay.

Another matter for the commission is the charge with reference to the Early county misdemeanor camp. The county authorities and J. W. Callahan, owner of the camp, have been ordered to show

TWO ATLANTA MEN ARE BADLY INJURED

Bloodhounds Are Put on Trail Near the Scene of Wreck, but No One Has So Far Been Found Who Could Be Held Responsible—Engineer Talks.

The wreck of the United States fast mail southbound train on the Southern railway near Harbins, S. C., yesterday morning did not prove to be as disastrous as was at first indicated by the reports received, but it was nothing short of a miracle which saved the lives of the large number of passengers and the members of the train crew.

A number of Atlantans were aboard the train returning from the east, but with the exception of a considerable shake up and much fright they all came out safe. The accompanying half-ton of the wrecked train is from a photograph taken by F. E. McKnight, of this city, who stood on a ledge 40 or 50 feet high overlooking the disabled train.

WANT HIGHER RATE.

THE railroad commission will hold a meeting Friday of this week, at which a number of important matters will come up for consideration.

Perhaps the principal matter to be inquired into is the application of the Atlanta and West Point for permission to charge a higher rate of freight than is now allowed. Recently the seven classes of railroads were abolished and the railroads of the state were arranged in three classes. Under the old arrangement the West Point was class 2, which gave it a slight increase in rates over the first class. This was opposed by the road, and it is now asked for permission to charge a higher rate of freight than is now allowed. The officials of the road stated then that they would not object to the change were it not for this expense. The question will, however, be considered by the commission on Friday.

Patriotic Meeting.

A called meeting Saturday of the Daughters of the Confederacy the redistribution of funds secured in the spring by the entertainment, "The Old and the New," was the principal matter of discussion, and it was decided to add $200 to the Winnie Davis memorial, besides the amount already voted, to give $400 to the Jefferson Davis monument fund, and to contribute $300 to the Soldiers' home for the furnishing of the chapel.

The increased gift to the Winnie Davis memorial is due to the fact that the plans for the building, which is to be a dormitory at the Milledgeville Normal and Industrial, have been elaborated so that the cost will be $20,000 instead of $12,000. The building will in consequence be a very handsome and a very modern one. Its design will be colonial and its position with reference to the other buildings most fortunate. It will command a good view of the rest of the campus and the surrounding drives, and altogether will be a beautiful monument. It will accommodate sixty or seventy-five girls.

At the same meeting the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which is to be held in New Orleans November 13, 14, 15 and 16, and the state convention, to occur at La Grange the latter part of October, was discussed, and it is expected that large delegations from Atlanta will go to both.

TEACHERS READY FOR WORK

First Session of Normal School Held Yesterday Morning.

TWO ADDRESSES DELIVERED

Dr. C. D. McIver will lecture to the school today—Other Noted Teachers to Lecture.

In the large hall of the Boys' High school yesterday morning the teachers of the public schools of the city gathered to attend the first session of their regular annual normal school. Almost all the teachers of the city were present, together with many visiting speakers.

The teachers assembled in the hall at 9 o'clock and the work was immediately begun. Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the Atlanta schools, made a few short remarks of welcome. Professor J. I. Fouat then delivered an interesting address on "Arithmetic." The address was only one of a series he is to deliver before the school. Miss Leah Jones was introduced by Superintendent Slaton and addressed the teachers on "Primary Work."

The teachers were then organized into classes according to their work for the coming year. Every class elected a chairman and a secretary. Then rooms were assigned the classes for the session. The negro teachers will meet in the basement of the school.

Every morning two speakers will make addresses in the hall before all the teachers. This morning at 8 o'clock Dr. McIver will talk on "The Principles of Education," and immediately after him Professor T. Gilbert Pearson will speak on "Nature Study." Both these lectures promise to be interesting and it is expected that many people will be present to hear the speakers.

Regular class work will be taken up at the conclusion of the lectures.

At 11 o'clock the high school teachers and those of the seventh and eighth grade grammar schools will be addressed by Dr. McIver. He will talk on "Civil Government as Related to Citizenship." During the day a few local instructors will speak, including Dr. Theo Toepel, instructor in physical culture; Professor B. C. Davis, instructor in music; and Professor E. R. Uterbach, instructor in manual training.

Dr. C. D. McIver was delayed yesterday on account of the wreck on the Southern. Consequently he was unable to be present at the opening session. Dr. McIver will address the school this morning and will take an active part in the work.

MAY MAKE A REPORT TODAY.

Electric Committee of Council To Pass on Application of Company for Franchise.

There will be a meeting of the electric light committee of council this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time it is probable a report will be made upon the application of the Atlanta Electric Company for a franchise to establish and operate an electric light and power station in the city. The meeting of the committee will take place in the office of the city attorney in Temple Court.

Colonel Albert H. Cox has asked for a grant for not less than thirty years, and it is expected the committee will favor giving a franchise for that period. Members of the committee, however, are also favorable to the idea of incorporating certain clauses in the franchise which will prove of benefit to the city when the new company brings its power into town.

The enterprise proposes to build a dam on the Chattahoochee river, erect a plant there and make its electricity by water power. This concern is separate and distinct from the Atlanta Water and Electric Power Company, which has already begun work on a dam at the shoals on the river. Whatever recommendation the committee sees fit to make will be submitted to council for adoption at the meeting to be held Monday.

The call for the meeting was issued yesterday by Chairman Woodward. All the members of the committee, with the exception of Councilman Winn, are in the city. Mr. Winn was a member of the party which went to Grand Rapids Sunday to attend the convention of the League of American Municipalities.

LIVELY FOX HUNT FOR FAIR.

Hundred Hounds Will Make Spirited Dash, in Full Cry, Before Grand Stand.

Visitors to the Southern Interstate fair this fall on the opening day will be treated to a lively fox hunt, which will take place in full view of the grand stand.

Of course it is out of the question to suppose that a live fox would be accommodating enough to leave a scent along a route selected by the management, so, to obviate any miscalculations in plans, a fox skin will be trailed along the ground from the government building in the city, down across the race track immediately in front of the grand stand, and then around Clara Meer.

The hunt will take place about sundown, October 8. A pack of 100 or more blooded hounds will be released at the government building and will dash in full cry before the eyes of those who will doubtless throng the grand stand. Joel Hurt, one of Atlanta's most enthusiastic hunters, has promised the fair management the use of his fine fox hounds.

CHARLESTON'S BIG DRY DOCK.

Admiral Endicott Advertises for Bids for Its Construction.

Washington, August 25.—Rear Admiral Endicott, chief of bureau of yards and docks, has advertised for bids for the construction of a stone and granite dry dock for the new naval station at Charleston, S. C. Specifications for the work will be sent out in a few days, and the bids are to be opened at the navy department on October 11. The dry dock structure proper and the entrance to the same are to be built of concrete with a granite facing and coping, with a continuous water-tight course to be laid in asphalt, unless during the progress of the work it is found preferable to use piles under the entire bottom of the dry dock proper and entrance. The dimensions of the dock are 68 by 144 in length and breadth, with a greatest depth of 42 feet. The limit of the cost for the entire work, including a pumping plant and other apparatus, is $1,200,000. The amount of appropriation available for the work under the specifications about to be issued is $500,000.

CROP REPORTS ARE CAUSING ALARM

Condition Is Said To Be Dropping Off Day by Day.

TRADE UNUSUALLY ACTIVE

Confined Mostly to the Winter Months—Chicago Markets Closed Higher Under Lead of Corn. The Stock Market Closed Generally Steady.

Georgia crop conditions just now are somewhat worse than they were last year at this time, according to the crop report issued yesterday by the department of agriculture, and last year the crop conditions were considerably below the average.

The average condition of cotton throughout the state at the present time according to the report is 70 per cent as against 75 per cent last year, and that was considered rather a poor showing. Cotton is the great staple crop and the condition of the other crops at this time does not vary much from that of cotton. Corn is even below that average, being 68 per cent, while the condition of rice is 82 per cent, being the highest of all the crops.

The report of crop conditions as issued by Commissioner O. B. Stevens yesterday is as follows:

The crop report from the Georgia department of agriculture represents the crop as it stood in the field August 20, 1902. It is made up from nearly a thousand blanks sent out into different sections of each county to the farmers who are considered capable of giving the desired information concerning the conditions and prospects of the crops in their neighborhood. Most of these were returned with the desired information.

Over large areas of the state, hot, dry winds have prevailed, affecting very materially the condition and prospects of all crops. Some times there is marked difference in the reports coming from different localities in the same county, in some of which a long-continued drought is reported, while in others the seasons and conditions are said to be good. The general complaint is made of too much rain in August. The general outlook discloses conditions and prospects less favorable than at this time last year.

In the Three Sections.

The condition of the various crops compared to an average for the various sections is as follows:

Northern Section—Cotton, 62 per cent; corn, 68 per cent; upland rice, 81 per cent; sweet potatoes, 64 per cent; tobacco, 52 per cent; cow peas, 67 per cent; ground peas, 68 per cent; forage crops, such as shredded corn, hay, etc., 63 per cent; number of hogs, 76 per cent; condition of live stock, 83 per cent; sugarcane, 70 per cent.

Middle Section—Cotton, 71 per cent; corn, 65 per cent; upland rice, 78 per cent; sweet potatoes, 69 per cent; tobacco, 50 per cent; cow peas, 71 per cent; ground peas, 72 per cent; forage crops, such as shredded corn, hay, etc., 68 per cent; number of hogs, 82 per cent; condition of live stock, 90 per cent; sugarcane, 75 per cent.

Southern Section—Cotton, 81 per cent; corn, 77 per cent; rice, 88 per cent; sweet potatoes, 70 per cent; tobacco, 81 per cent; cow peas, 89 per cent; ground peas, 91 per cent; forage crops, such as shredded corn, hay, etc., 83 per cent; number of hogs, 87 per cent; condition of live stock, 90 per cent; sugarcane, 79 per cent.

Averages for the State.

The total averages of all these crops for the whole state are as follows:

Cotton, 70 per cent; corn, 68 per cent; rice, 82 per cent; sweet potatoes, 71 per cent; tobacco, 61 per cent; cow peas, 76 per cent; ground peas, 79 per cent; forage crops, such as shredded corn, hay, etc., 71 per cent; number of hogs, 82 per cent; condition of live stock, 88 per cent; sugarcane, 75 per cent.

The total average of these same crops for the same date last year was as follows:

Cotton, 75 per cent; corn, 77 per cent; rice, 88 per cent; sweet potatoes, 81 per cent; tobacco, 87 per cent; cow peas, 88 per cent; ground peas, 90 per cent; forage crops, such as shredded corn, hay, etc., 83 per cent; number of hogs, 91 per cent; condition of live stock, 90 per cent; sugarcane, 86 per cent.

MASONS WILL MEET HERE.

Past Masters To Review Work of Fifth District Friday.

A big Masonic gathering will be held in Atlanta Friday, at which it is expected that 300 Masons will be present. The occasion is a review of the work in the fifth Masonic district by a committee of past masters, appointed by Grand Master Max Meyerholdt, of Rome. James L. Mayson and George Chase are members of the committee from Atlanta. The meeting will be convened at 10 o'clock in the morning, and will be an all-day and evening session. It will be held in Masonic hall, at the corner of Mitchell and Forsyth streets.

The committee proposes to work the E. A. degree in the morning; the F. C. degree at the night session. All Masons are invited to attend the meeting, and there are eighty lodges in the district, a large attendance is expected. Similar meetings will be held in all of the districts of the state, but at different times. The gathering is in the nature of a school, and its object is to teach the officers of the various lodges the work. The call for the meeting is directed to the lodge officers.

BOOKS, SCHOOL AND MUSIC ARE PLANNED FOR PRISON

W HEN the present plans of Warden Hawk of the United States federal prison, are completed, the wards will be provided with a circulating library, a night school, a band and an orchestra. Before coming to Atlanta, Warden Hawk was at the head of the state penal institution of West Virginia, at which place he had all of these accessories in full running order.

The library is already under way, but the night school will have to await more commodious quarters when the main building is erected. At the present time there are a number of musicians in the prison and very soon they will be given an opportunity to practice and to get together certain evenings in the chapel where their efforts to produce harmony will not interfere with the meditations of those in their respective cells. As one facetious warden in the front office remarked, "the men already have their uniforms." When the band and orchestra are fully organized, and it is reported on good authority that there is plenty of talent to select from and three or four real artists in the number, they will take part in the regular monthly concert and other entertainments that occur at the prison from time to time.

The matter of building up the library for some of the works of this popular author, believing that the beautiful lessons they taught without any attempt at moralizing would result in great good. The particular work of the author, Dr. Tupper has sent out a number of letters to the principal authors and publishers throughout the country asking for donations. Many favorable replies have been received, among the most recent being Ernest Thompson Seton and Charles G. D. Roberts. In writing to Mr. Seton, Dr. Tupper asked particularly for some of the works of this popular author, believing that the beautiful lessons they taught without any attempt at moralizing would result in great good.

Added as a sort of marginal postscript have prevailed, affecting very materially the condition and prospects of all crops. The general complaint is made of too much rain in August. The general outlook discloses conditions and prospects less favorable than at this time last year.

NEW FERTILIZER RULES ADOPTED

Commissioner Stevens Prepares To Put New Law in Effect.

WILL RAISE THE STANDARD

Rules to Which Manufacturers of Fertilizers Will Have To Conform After October 1, the Date When the New Law Becomes Effective.

Commissioner O. B. Stevens, of the department of agriculture, yesterday made a number of rulings interpreting the new fertilizer law which goes into effect on October 1, the beginning of the new fertilizer season.

This law, which was passed to go into effect this year at such time as the commissioner of agriculture should make rules under which it is to become operative, has the effect of increasing the standard of fertilizers. It is so drawn that the percentage of plant food must be greater than heretofore.

As published exclusively in The Constitution some time ago, it was decided by Commissioner Stevens October 1, that the new law was to be put into effect on October 1, the beginning of the new fertilizer season.

The rules made yesterday governing the operations of the new law are as follows:

1. The grade of the fertilizers is to be considered a part of the "brand name, and, or trade-mark," and may immediately precede or follow the brand name.

2. It is optional with the manufacturer whether he brand his goods with the brand name, but if he does brand his goods with any name the grade must conform to the requirements of the grade as stated in section 4 of the law.

3. In branding the word "potash" the character of the grade in use are to be indicated.

4. In the case of goods containing 10 per cent available phosphoric acid, .082 per cent nitrogen and 1 per cent potash or such mixtures as 1-16-1, or 2-8-2-3, or other combinations, which do not reach a total commercial value of 10 per cent, the grade of the fertilizer, which is 8-1-65-2, such mixtures are not to be designated by any grade at all. Such goods may be offered for sale, and branded with any name the maker desires to give, provided such name does not indicate that they belong to a high or standard grade.

5. In printing bags containing acid phosphate plants may be offered for sale, and branded with any name the maker desires to give, provided such name does not indicate that they belong to a high or standard grade.

6. In the case of goods containing less than 1.65 per cent available phosphoric acid, .082 per cent nitrogen and 1 per cent potash, the grade of the fertilizer, which is 8-1-65-2, such mixtures are not to be designated by any grade at all. Such goods may be offered for sale, and branded with any name the maker desires to give, provided such name does not indicate that they belong to a high or standard grade.

7. No manufacturer has the right to print the word "ammonia" at all on his sacks.

8. Until further notice the commission fixes in accordance with the provisions of the law the minimum percentage of nitrogen required by a sack of fertilizer to be sold at 3.7 per cent equivalent to form, and 4 1/2 per cent of ammonia.

It was in employing these same methods that Warden Hawk, while in West Virginia, from nothing brought up a library of some twenty-five thousand volumes, including all of the standard publications of literature, science and fiction. Andrew Carnegie has been written to and it is hoped that the same interest which has prompted him to establish public libraries will prompt a generous response in behalf of a prison library. Some of the books Mr. Roberts, including his "A Sister to Evangeline" and others of his beautiful stories of Arcadian life, are now hurrying by freight Atlantaward for the benefit of readers who cannot buy and are not permitted to become subscribers to the public libraries. Any books or periodicals sent by interested persons to either Warden Hawk or Chaplain Tupper will be greatly appreciated and promptly acknowledged in the columns of The Constitution.

The work of putting up shelves is now being rapidly pushed forward and the room on the second floor directly over the warden's office will be made the library.

To Ask for Bids. Specifications of requirements for the erection of a warden's residence, another for the deputy warden, a blacksmith shop, a carpenter shop, tool house and a building for a stone crusher will be submitted for bids and estimates this week. These contracts amount to some $75,000 and it is expected, as previously stated in The Constitution, all will be awarded to Atlanta builders.

In Honor of Livingston. Warden Hawk has sent in an application for a postoffice for "Livingston." This office will be for the use of residents across the road from the prison in honor of the congressman who was so largely responsible for the bringing of the institution to Atlanta. Already three or four of the prison officials have started homes and it is expected that the warden will advise the president to call Mr. Rouvier, minister of finance, or M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the previous premier, to succeed him.

The iron work for strengthening prison windows, which is being made in Cincinnati, Ohio, is positively promised for this week. This importation will effectively close the door of escape through which East and Shelton squeezed their bodies.

A large congregation occupied seats in the spacious Piedmont park Auditorium during the Christian Alliance services last night and listened to an able discourse by Rev. P. W. Philpott, of Hamilton, Canada. Mr. Philpott arrived last night from Richmond just a few minutes before the service began. He expects to remain throughout the meeting.

Mr. Philpott is a forceful speaker and handled his subject in such a manner as to develop a number of instructive points. The subject was "Lost Fellowship," and the text was taken from Second Samuel xiv, 28. The theme of the sermon was the passage, to the effect that Absalom dwelt in Jerusalem, but did not see his father's face. The speaker applied this to the church of today, saying that many people who are in the church do not enjoy the blessings of religion.

Mr. Philpott spoke of the necessity of Christians walking in the path of obedience, declaring that unless they do they cannot have communion with God.

The afternoon services yesterday were the most interesting yet. The large attendance on the afternoon services heretofore has been rather slim, but the number seems to grow larger every succeeding day.

The service began with an experience meeting at 2:30 p. m. Everybody present was given an opportunity to speak, and many gave talks that were very interesting. The meeting was held in the "Prayer" room, and all are invited to attend.

Immediately after the experience meeting a missionary service was held. Rev. W. A. Cramer, of Atlanta, presided, and a short address. He chose as his subject "Prayer." He dwelt on the application of the subject to the heathen Africans. During the course of his address he related an interesting story in support of his argument. He said:

"For our petition to reach the ear of God, is prayer. Whatever success there may be, whatever may be done for the heathen, is the direct result of prayer—prayer from somebody."

The address was strong in its argument, and simple and clear. Devotional services were held at the conclusion of the missionary service. Richard Forrest, of Orlando, Fla., led a scripture lesson and read a few comments made when Dr. Forrest announced that the discussion was open for any one who chose to talk.

The usual early morning prayer meeting began the services yesterday. It was led by Rev. Mr. Forrest also. At 7:30 a. m. a prayer meeting was held. The members of the alliance are endeavoring to make a very early morning prayer service their most enthusiastic meeting. Although it occurs at a very inconvenient hour to the majority of its people, still there is always a large attendance.

There will be preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Some well-known missionary will speak each service. At 2 p. m. a missionary meeting will be held. The large choir is only present at the morning and night services, owing to the fact that many of them are employed in the city during the day.

WARFIELD HAS BEEN BOUNDED. He Had a Scheme of Selling Typing in Boston.

Washington, August 25.—Secretary Shaw today ordered the dismissal from the treasury department of Lorenzo Warfield, a clerk in the division of bookkeeping and warrants. The attention of the department was called a few days ago by a circular said to have been issued by an organization in which Mr. Warfield was a member. The circular gave the names of a proposed association by which the stockholders could probably reap large returns from a scheme to play the races. One clause in the circular cited the fact that the members of the association were endeavoring to make a very early morning prayer service their most enthusiastic meeting. Although it occurs at a very inconvenient hour to the majority of its people, still there is always a large attendance.

Things We Like Best

Often Disagree With Us

Because we overeat of them. Indigestion follows. But there's a way to escape such consequences. A dose of a good digestant like Kodol will relieve you at once. Your stomach is simply too weak to digest what you eat. That's all indigestion is. Kodol digests the food without the stomach's aid. Thus the stomach rests while the body is strengthened by wholesome food. Dieting is unnecessary. Kodol digests any kind of food. Strengthens and invigorates.

PLEASANTS WILL SUCCEED HANSON

President of Ocean Steamship Company To Retire at Early Date.

HANSON HAS HIS HANDS FULL

It is Generally Believed That Mr. Pleasants, After Getting Some Experience in Traffic Operation, Will Be Elevated to the Presidency.

Savannah, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—It is reported here that the elevation of W. H. Pleasants to the position of vice president and general manager of the Ocean Steamship Company is but a temporary arrangement and that after the lapse of a few months, at most, he is to be elected president of the company. Major J. F. Hanson, the present president, retiring in Mr. Pleasants' favor. The report seems to have won general credence.

It is declared that Major Hanson does not want the post of president of the Ocean Steamship Company, and that he accepted it with the understanding that a successor would be chosen as soon as a suitable man could be found. It is now said that it is the purpose of the board of directors to give Mr. Pleasants a term of experience in the management of the traffic and operation of the company and when this experience has been gained, make him president. It is asserted that Major Hanson, as chairman of the board of the Central, has his hands full and that that position supplies him with as much work as one man wants to perform with the thoroughness that characterizes Major Hanson.

There is much speculation here as to who will succeed Mr. Pleasants as the traffic manager of the Seaboard Air Line. There is a report that it will be General Freight Agent James Menzies, of the Atlantic Coast Line, who formerly held that position with the Plant system. Another report has it that Mr. Menzies will go to the Ocean Steamship Company under Mr. Pleasants.

New Railroad Map.

The railroad commission yesterday issued a new railroad map of the state, bringing the railroad situation in Georgia entirely up to date and even indicating prospective changes which are practically certain to be made.

The map differs in no respect from others that have been issued in the past with the exception that it shows all the railroad changes during the last year and those which are scheduled to be made within the next few months. Perhaps the principal change which this map indicates is the absorption of the Plant system by the Atlantic Coast Line. All of the Plant properties are now shown under the name of the purchasing road.

Another interesting change that is noted in this map is the purchase of the Atlantic, Valdosta and Western by the Southern railway. The new cut-off on the Coast Line, formerly the Plant system, from Jesup to Folkston, shortening the distance to Jacksonville, is shown in both Coast Line and Southern colors, as both roads have equal rights over it by contract agreement. The Southern has a similar track right over the Coast Line from Savannah to Jesup, and this also is shown in two colors.

The Brunswick and Birmingham railroad is shown as absorbed into the Brunswick and Atlantic system, which case by short lines, particularly in the southern part of the state, are indicated.

On the back of the map are the names of all the counties, cities, towns, cities, creeks and rivers in the state, and a lot of valuable information. The map, which will unquestionably be in great demand, was prepared by J. D. Massey, secretary of the railroad commission.

An interesting situation in railroad circles that affects Brunswick merchants considerably was probably decided this week. The general public is familiar with the case of the Brunswick and Birmingham Railroad Company vs. the Southern Railway and Plant system, which case by short lines, particularly in the southern part of the state, are indicated.

At a meeting held in the attorney general's office Saturday between Attorney General Wright, Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, of the railroad commission, and Judge S. C. Atkinson, of Brunswick, it was decided to enter suit against the Southern and Plant for $5,000 each. Subsequent to the approval of the Brunswick and Birmingham, the Plant system was absorbed by the Atlantic Coast Line, and there is said to be evidence of late that the Atlantic Coast Line has already showed its willingness to transfer Brunswick and Birmingham lines to the Brunswick and Atlantic system.

The entire case has now reached an interesting stage. Just what steps will be taken by the Southern and Plant to meet the Atlantic Coast Line seems anxious to help Brunswick like they do other places in the state and it is thought that the matter will be settled amicably within the next few days.

Eight or ten damage suits against the Georgia Southern and Florida railway, ranging in amount from a few hundred to $15,000, were filed in the city court of Valdosta last week. W. O. Shirling sued for $10,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained in jumping from a train at Habersham last October. The train on which he was passenger and he was thrown from the station and he jumped off. J. M. Rouse, who was a passenger on the same train, was injured and he sued the station and he asks damages in the sum of $500.

G. H. Parnell sued for $15,000, claiming to have been severely injured while a train on which he was a passenger was backing into a station in this city, the coach running into another car and throwing him to the ground and injuring him. G. L. Dickinson enters suit for $1,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained at Dasher, Ga.

INTERSTATE RIFLE SHOOT IS ON TODAY AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, GA., August 25.—(Special).—The practice for the interstate rifle shoot began at the Savannah range this morning and continued throughout the day.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the first match will begin. This will be the carbine novice match, and it is expected that there will be five or six entries.

There are nine visiting teams here now, and more are coming tomorrow and Wednesday. Some excellent scores were made, beginning last Monday.

By command of the governor, Adjutant General Wright, issued an order yesterday detailing a squad of twelve men from the Governor's Horse Guard to go to Sea Girt on August 27 to compete in the interstate and international matches that are to be shot on the ranges there, beginning next Monday.

The Atlanta team will leave the city tomorrow, arriving at Sea Girt in time to get acquainted with the ranges before the actual work of shooting for points and prizes begins. The order issued yesterday is as follows:

Special Order, No. 160. 1. The Governor's Horse Guard, troop C, first cavalry, G. S. T., being ordered to go to Sea Girt, New Jersey, to compete in the interstate and international matches that are to be shot on the ranges there, beginning next Monday.

The team was selected as a result of rifle practice held on the Horse Guard ranges. The state pays none of the expenses of the trip, so the men who go must meet their own expenses.

Senior of the members of the team have attended the shoots at Sea Girt before, and have highly upheld the reputation of the Georgia volunteer for marksmanship. It is predicted that the team will not come back empty-handed.

AT DETROIT

Detroit, August 25.—The Windsor Jockey Club's meeting was begun today under favorable circumstances. The attendance was the largest in the history of the track and the races were under fair skies and over a fast track. The inaugural handicap at 1 mile was the feature event and was won by April Showers, a 3-year-old colt, trained by J. M. Rouse, who was a passenger on the same train, was injured and he sued the station and he asks damages in the sum of $500.
